

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington—If the British government does not regularize the forthcoming visit of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, there is a good chance that it will become just as much of a mess as the well-remembered tour of Queen Marie of Romania.

So far, plans for the Windsors' sojourn here have been a mixture of buck-passing and personal advertising.

The administration to date has dodged any official plans for the Windsors' reception here. Mrs. Roosevelt has told the state department that she would give them a tea, and that probably there would be a White House dinner.

But after that, they will be on their own. Miss Perkins has said she would be glad to put them in touch with certain social and labor problems, but has made it clear that she is not inviting them to the United States. Also Secretary of the Interior Ickes is being queried regarding other portions of their tour.

Cables to Ickes from Charles Bedeaux, on behalf of the Duke, have been coming collect.

They asked for the location of housing projects and worthwhile scenic spots. Ickes answered in detail by cable—collect. The wording of the cable made it clear that the interior department was not a tourist bureau.

Paid Publicity

Simultaneously with the arrival of these cablegrams, in fact some time before their arrival, their text was made public by the Windsors' publicity organization. This consists of Arthur Kudner, Inc., New York advertising firm, and its Washington representative, Frank Getty.

These are employed by Charles Bedeaux, who has taken the Duke and Duchess under his wing.

Bedeaux is a mysterious figure. He began life working below the water-level as a sand-hog, devised a stretch-out system for speeding up this and other work, is of French-Canadian descent, once was a member of the Foreign Legion, and is suspected of using the Duke's trip as a neat little method of advertising Bedeaux.

Meanwhile nothing concrete is being done about the Duke's trip. Secretary Ickes has received several hundred letters and telegrams asking about the royal couple. The Baltimore & Ohio railroad sent an

ILLINOIS CORN HUSKING TILT DRAWS CROWD

50,000 Expected to See Contest Today At Van Orin

Van Orin, Ill., Nov. 1.—(AP)—A crowd estimated by state highway police at 65,000 attended the state cornhusking meet on Frank Grisell's farm near here today. Officials of the meet said it was the largest turnout in the history of the event in Illinois.

Attracting chief attention at the start of the competition was Adam Byczynski, 28-year-old state champion seeking to repeat. A gallery of about 4,000 which followed him was restrained from hindering him by a cordon of husky personal friends who clasped hands in a human chain.

Bright sunshine and a fine stand of corn, running about 90 bushels to the acre, led to prediction a high score would be made by the winner of the 80-minute contest. Early pace setters were proceeding at the rate of about 50 ears to the minute.

If maintained, this speed would result in a husking total of 40 bushels.

Byczynski faced competition from eleven rivals, all county champions who qualified for the state meet by turning in the best scores in preliminary tests.

Simpson Arrives On Liner, Parries Divorce Question

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Traveling incognito, Ernest A. Simpson, former husband of the Duchess of Windsor, arrived on a surprise visit to the United States today on the Cunard White Star liner Queen Mary.

He parried all questions referring to his divorce and his former wife. Asked whether he planned to marry Mrs. Mary Ruffray, London society woman, Simpson laughingly replied: "Oh, let's have another drink."

BRITAIN PUTS FAR-EAST WAR UP TO U. S.

ROOSEVELT IS FACING GRAVE PROBLEM NOW

Party Split, Labor Furor Among His Chief Worries

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The first anniversary Wednesday of President Roosevelt's reelection will find the chief executive facing political problems unforeseen at the time of his victory.

The Democratic party, which in 1936 confidently counted the biggest party following in history, is threatened with an internal split. Its members are uncertain whether they will be fighting shoulder to shoulder or face to face in 1938 and 1940.

The Republican party, overwhelmed and almost knocked out a year ago, is rallying for a new fight, although it too faces internal troubles.

This week the President is preparing for a special session of Congress at a time when industrial indices are dropping. Administration leaders are uncertain whether the huge congressional majorities will approve the President's program or kick it overboard.

Some congressional leaders who campaigned with the President in 1936 are off the reservation now. The President's legislative chieftain of a year ago—Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas—is dead.

Split on Supreme Court

Organized labor, credited with a large part of Mr. Roosevelt's reelection, is so deeply split that one faction is fighting the other's political candidates.

Despite all these developments, the President's supporters contend he has as much strength as ever among the rank and file of voters. Some are talking of supporting him for a third term.

Some of the Roosevelt leaders in Congress are forecasting that the party rift which developed last session will disappear with the approach of next year's congressional elections. Also encouraging to them are negotiations for settlement of several disputes.

Looking back over the troubled year, Democratic chieftains could trace many of their difficulties to a single cause—the President's court bill.

Joseph Shorrette Died This Morn Of Angina Pectoris

Joseph A. Shorrette, 79, janitor at E. C. Smith school the past sixteen years, died this morning at an early hour, death the result of angina pectoris.

The deceased was born in London, May 27, 1858. He had resided in Dixon the past forty-six years. He is survived by his wife, Emma De Shorrette, a son, Leslie E.; a daughter, Lillie L. McQuillen, of Elmhurst, a granddaughter, Mrs. Gilma Huggins, a great-granddaughter, Bettye Huggins, one brother, Delbert Shorrette of Ida Grove, Iowa.

The deceased celebrated his fifty-seventh wedding anniversary October 19 of this year. Funeral services will be held at 2 P. M. Wednesday at the home and burial will be in Oakwood.

Reaps "Wild Oats"

Rochester, Ind., Nov. 1.—(AP)—"Aunt Ella" McIntyre, 78, and partially blind, was more philosophical than police about the Halloween pranksters who visited her small farm home.

She awoke to find several shocks of corn fodder on her roof. Her winter's supply of coal had been stolen. Then she stepped out the back door and took a tumble because the steps had been removed.

"Well, I was young once" she said.

Gets 22 Wrong Numbers So Wrecks Phone to Get Nickels; Gets Jail

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 1.—(AP)—"for a long time" to return the coins, but to no avail. Then he ripped the phone from the booth, walked to the street and dashed it to the pavement nor far from his parked automobile.

Two policemen stepped up as he was retrieving his nickels. There was an argument, a brief battle and then Peterson was off to jail.

Today he faced arraignment on four charges: Resisting an officer, destruction of property, disorderly conduct and driving an automobile without a state license.

Los Angeles, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bartholomew were due in court today to begin their battle to regain custody of young Freddie Bartholomew from his Aunt Mylicent.

They charge Miss Bartholomew gained a legal guardianship over the boy film star by fraud.

M-G-M studio gave Freddie a new contract recently by which he will earn $98,000 a year for two years and his aunt will receive $4,000 annually.

SELECTION OF PENSION HEADS HELD UP AGAIN

Horner Refuses To Accept Kerner's Legal Ruling

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 1.—(AP)—A. L. Bowen, director of Public Welfare, said today the administration hasn't decided what it will do if county boards stand by Attorney General Otto Kerner's ruling and disregard Governor Horner's demand for bi-partisan nominations for county old age pension superintendents.

Bowen said some county boards had submitted new nominations since the governor ordered their rejection several weeks ago and that others had promised to make new selections at their December meetings.

The director said it hasn't been decided when to hold the competitive examinations to select one superintendent of public welfare from five nominations from each downstate county. The possibility is "not remote," he added, that the examinations would be started before December.

The opinion was expressed that the state can't shut off funds to any county refusing to follow the governor's demands, since the Social Security Act requires a uniform statewide administration of old age assistance.

DELAYS APPOINTMENTS

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Governor Horner's refusal to accept a legal ruling by Attorney General Otto Kerner again tied up the selection of county old age pension superintendents today, two months after the nominations were due.

County boards of supervisors or commissioners in nearly half the downstate counties studied two courses of action:

1.—To submit new lists, in accordance with the governor's curt demand that they "follow the rules and regulations of the public welfare department."

2.—To stand by their guns, on the strength of Attorney General's opinion that the Horner administration was without authority to demand bi-partisan nominations.

Mr. Horner refused flatly to back down from his original position

G-MEN SPURRED BY FINDING OF RANSOM BILL

Chicago, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Discovery of another ransom bill provided federal agents with a fresh clue today in the mysterious kidnapping five weeks ago of Charles S. Ross.

A $10 note, part of the $50,000 ransom paid to the supposed kidnapers of the 76-year-old retired manufacturer, was turned over to federal agents yesterday by T. J. Cook, proprietor of a south side hotel.

Cook obtained the bill from Ellis C. Williams, a shoe salesman and guest at the hotel. Williams said he received the bill in his pay envelope Saturday.

Ross, wealthy retired manufacturer of greeting cards was kidnapped Sept. 25 and the ransom was paid two weeks later in $5, $10 and $20 bills. Since then four of the bills, including Cook's have turned up.

JAPS REGRET FORAY ON U. S. MARINE BASE

Apology Handed To Commander Of Marine Force

Shanghai, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Japanese Admiral Kiyoshi Hasegawa apologized today to the United States marine commander who protested against a Japanese foray on the American-protected side of Soochow creek.

A party of Japanese bluejackets had crossed the creek to the American sector of the International Settlement in a rice-laden junk seized after scaring off the Chinese crew by firing blank shots.

Brig. Gen. John C. Beaumont, marine commander in Shanghai, protested to Hasegawa, who apologized and promised there would not be a recurrence of the incident.

The apology came as 7,000 Japanese shock troops, under cover of a thunderous artillery barrage, crossed Soochow creek west of Shanghai. Closer to the Settlement, Japanese used the Chinese junk and other craft to negotiate the creek and attack Chinese positions along the south bank.

Attempt Encirclement

As Japanese attempted to blast their way into Chinese positions and encircle Shanghai, Maj. Gen. A. P. D. Telfer-Smollette, commander of British troops, refused to withdraw his soldiers from outposts in western sections of the city.

In answer to Japanese disclosure that Chinese machine gun nests near British outposts along the Shanghai-Hangchow railway would be subjected to intense bombardment, Telfer-Smollette ordered British Union Jacks flown over all British dugouts and sandbag barriers.

He served notice that the British would hold their lines regardless of eventualities.

Tension between Japanese and British troops became more acute, with British blaming Japanese for 10 casualties, including five deaths, suffered by their forces in Shanghai thus far.

JAPS BEAT OFF ATTACK

Peiping, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A Japanese army communique today asserted 400 Chinese troops were killed on the North Honan front Sunday when a Chinese attack north of Changteh was beaten off.

HUNTING SEASON FOR WILD FOWL OPENED TODAY

Lynch Begins First Big Conservation Job In State

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Thomas J. Lynch, a nursery man from Glenco, plunged into his first big conservation job today as the 30-day open season on wild geese and ducks got underway in Illinois.

Acting director of conservation, Lynch was on the Illinois river firing line as the bombardment from shotguns at 7 A. M. signalled the opening of the attack against migratory waterfowl going south for the winter.

Lynch, who has worked his way up through the department from a job as game warden, sought first hand information on shooting conditions.

A Democratic committeeman in his township along Chicago's north shore, he was made acting director by Governor Horner less than 90

TAMMANY AND CIO WATCHED IN POLITICS

Real Influence Of Both Can Then Be Ascertained

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Scattered off-year elections will take place tomorrow in 15 states, but national interest will center on the bids of two organizations—old Tammany Hall and young C. I. O.—for new political power.

Tammany is fighting to regain its old prestige in New York City's election of a mayor and New York county district attorney.

The C. I. O. is opposing Tammany on the New York front by backing Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, but its major bid for power is being made in Detroit, where it is running candidates for mayor and the city council. Victory would give it political control of a large city for the first time.

Mayor La Guardia is seeking reelection with Republican, fusion, American Labor party, and communist backing.

The Democratic candidate is Jeremiah T. Mahoney, former New York supreme court justice and former Tammany district leader. He has the support of the Democratic national chairman James A. Farley and Senator Robert F. Wagner.

No Special Significance

Because both candidates are Roosevelt supporters, the election will not have special significance from a national political standpoint. La Guardia's backers have sought to make Tammany the issue. Mahoney has retaliated with the contention the mayor had 'red' backing.

In the Detroit election, a non-partisan affair, Patrick H. O'Brien is the C. I. O. candidate for mayor. His opponent, Richard W. Reading, unaffiliated, has the backing of part of the American Federation of Labor.

Five officials of the United Automobile Workers of America, a C. I. O. affiliate, are among nominees for the Detroit city council.

Traffic Crashes Fatal To Nine On State Highways

Chicago, Nov. 1.—(AP)—At least nine persons were killed in traffic accidents in Illinois over the week-end, an Associated Press survey showed today. Three of them lost their lives in Chicago.

Mrs. Janet Getgood, 30, and Mrs. Sybil Brittain, 40, of Winnetka, were killed in that city when a Northwestern road train struck their automobile as they returned from a Halloween party.

Mrs. Lottie Johnson, 55, of Antioch was fatally injured in a two-car collision near Elgin. Four others, including her 80-year-old mother, were injured.

Injuries in another collision proved fatal to Mrs. Gilbert Nonkove at Urbana.

Melvin Steele, Mokenca farmer, was found dead in his overturned auto near that city. Officers said he had lost control of the car while driving at night.

A freight train struck an automobile near Granite City, killing Edward McCabe, 65, owner of a filling station.

South Dixon Farmer Taken Into Custody for Hit-Run Accidents

Jack Fannell, South Dixon farmer, was taken in custody at his home Sunday evening by Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber, following an investigation of two hit-and-run accidents in Dixon during the evening. Fannell reported at the police station this morning at 10:00 o'clock when State's Attorney Edward Jones was called into the investigation, after which Chief Van Bibber stated that an information would be filed in the county court against Fannell Tuesday morning.

At 6:30 the police were called to the Hayden service station where Hilbert Thompson of this city reported that Fannell's car had struck his machine. Thompson told the investigating officers that the driver had abused him, then drove away from the scene of the accident.

Shortly afterward, Bert Britt reported to the police that his car had been struck at the corner of Madison avenue and First street and the driver continued west without stopping.

Found Damaged Car

In investigating the two crashes, the police found Fannell's car parked on Seventh street and College avenue, considerably damaged. Later in the evening, Fannell telephoned Chief Van Bibber from his home, stating that his car had been stolen in Dixon. Chief Van Bibber and Mayor W. V. Slothower drove to the Fannell home and the former ordered the South Dixon farmer to report at the police station this morning at 10 o'clock. Fannell's car and both of the other machines were considerably damaged.

He follows the shape of each character, and even words like "sulfanilamide" fail to stump him.

NEW VOLUNTARY CROP CONTROL PLAN FAVORED

Tariff Equalizing Taxes Proposed To Finance It

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The House agriculture committee agreed today on the principle of voluntary control of wheat, cotton, and rice crops in the new farm bill.

The question of compulsory or voluntary regulation of crop production has been one of the most controversial before the committee, which is drafting a bill for presentation at the special session of Congress Nov. 15.

The skeleton bill outlined by Jones also provides for continuation of soil conservation payments, financing the new program by some form of tariff equalizing taxes, and setting up marketing quotas in emergencies.

It differs in many respects from a measure already drawn by Rep. Flannagan (D-Va.) providing for compulsory crop control.

The Flannagan bill would operate chiefly by means of marketing quotas and the imposition of penalties on farmers selling crops in excess of those quotas.

Corn Major Problem

The difficulty of drafting provisions for corn remained one of the major problems. Rep. Coffee (D-Neb.), member of a subcommittee handling corn, said the group was as undecided about the commodity, as when Congress adjourned last August.

Eighty-five per cent of the corn produced is fed to stock and poultry without leaving the county in which it is grown. This factor presents a difficult problem of control and

Police Kept Busy Answering Calls To Stop Halloweeners

Members of the police department and special officers were kept busy over the week-end answering calls of Halloweeners' depredations in various parts of the city, some of which resulted in serious damage. During the week preceding Halloween, several electric light bulbs were shattered throughout the residential district on both sides of the river.

J. E. Barber of the Dixon Monument company reported to the police, a large plate glass and several smaller panes broken at the place of business opposite the entrance to Oakwood cemetery.

Coach C. B. Lindell of the high school faculty and Thomas Erwin reported having had the tires on their automobiles slashed.

U. S. CONVOKED 9-POWER MEET CLAIMS EDEN

Says Success Will Depend Upon Our Cooperation

London, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told Commons today he wanted to "make it quite plain" that the United States took the initiative in convoking the nine power conference on the Chinese-Japanese conflict and that any action in the far eastern dispute "essentially depended on co-operation of the United States."

The United States provided impetus for holding the conference and also suggested that Brussels be the meeting place, he asserted.

"I say without hesitation," he added, "that in order to get full co-operation, on an equal basis, of the United States government in the international conference, I would travel not only from Geneva to Brussels, but from Melbourne to Alaska—the more particularly in the present situation of international affairs."

Eden, speaking in Foreign Affairs debate, dealt with the far eastern crisis, Germany's desire for return of war-lost colonies and with piracy at sea growing from the Spanish civil war.

The foreign secretary advised Italy flatly, amid common cheers, that she need not expect the return of colonies to Germany while Premier Mussolini keeps territory which Italy won in the war.

Thus, with what he described as his own "appalling frankness," Eden answered Premier Mussolini's urging in his address last week that Germany get back a "place in the African sun."

Italy Gained Tyrol

Italy gained the German speaking southern Tyrol as a consequence of the World War.

Of Spain, Eden bluntly told opposition members of the parliament that the Nyon accord to combat piracy had resulted in facilitating "the arrival of very large quantities of material at Spanish government ports."

"The house no doubt will have observed, during recent days," Eden asserted, discussing colonies, "that the country that had itself, as an outcome of the Great War, gained very considerable accessions of territory in Europe, and also received certain territorial concessions in Africa from countries which were its allies in the Great War, had now championed the claim of Germany to African possessions. x x x I must declare plainly that we do not admit the right of any government to call upon us for contribution, when there is no evidence to show that that government is prepared to make any contribution of their own account."

PROTEST SHIP SINKING

London, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons today the government had lodged a strong protest with Spanish insurgent authorities over the sinking of the British merchant ship Jean Weems.

As the mighty battle cruiser Hood sped to Barcelona to investigate the defiance of the Nyon anti-piracy accord, Eden indicated Anglo-French Mediterranean reinforcements might be made as a result of the Jean Weems bombing.

The insurgents, he said, "have undertaken at once to make a most searching inquiry," to fix the responsibility for the incident.

The Hood, armed with eight 15-inch guns, steamed toward the Catalan coast from Mallorca where she was ordered only last week.

There was no indication whether the ultimate British action would take the form of reprisals, threatened last August in a note to Generalissimo Francisco Franco if there were further attacks on British shipping.

However, the dispatch of the Hood to the scene of the bombing appeared to be evidence that Britain is determined on a sterner Mediterranean policy to enforce the Nyon anti-piracy accord.

Reports reaching London indicated the crew of the Jean Weems had only five minutes warning before the vessel was bombed. They immediately "took to a life boat."

CLAIM 500 KILLED

REMINISCENCES

By H. G. REMINGTON

Dixon Telegraph Staff Writer and Former London Times Military and Feature Writer

(The following includes excerpts from an article written by Remington for the Illustrated News and is reprinted by permission of the publisher.—The Editor.)

With the winter holidays just around the corner comes the conflict on the old question—to drink or not to drink?—And 'tis a poor heart that never rejoices during the period above all others when festivity casts a spell over the land.

We moderns can be thankful, however, that we are no longer required to sit down to the gargantuan feasts our forefathers thought it necessary to place before their guests at holiday time. We may now safely accept an invitation to dinner without having to assist in demolishing huge joints of beef, accompanied by peacocks, swans, brawns and capons, to say nothing of a fish course in which whole pikes and sturgeons were prominent.

Nor need we feel it necessary to join the other guests under the table at the conclusion of the feast as a result of having added too many "hot and rebellious liquors" to the generous fare. This is a more abstemious age, and many of the heavy and strange dishes that our lusty forebears polished off with such amazing appetite are gone. But although we have grown out of the gluttonous and bibulous habits of the past, we still retain many of those customs of the table which have been handed down from the early centuries.

To America belongs the distinction of having invented a greater number of new drinks, with fantastic titles, than any other nation, and the British expert, Edward Spencer, credits Uncle Sam with having introduced the bar system in England. Spencer, by the way, is hard on the custom of drinking between meals. "Better by far," he says, "was the three-bottle trick of our ancestors than the gin-crawl of today." But his opinion is not shared by a breezy character in a novel by Charles Garvice, who advances the bold theory that between meals is the best time to drink, as a man then can give it his sole and undivided attention.

While America may have devised a greater variety of nips, pegs, cocktails and other occasional refreshers than any other nation, the Old World can claim to have provided some rich and satisfying liquors.

Before the Romans taught them how to brew, the ancient Britons slaked their thirst and wished each other luck in mead, cider or perry, but having once learned the taste of ale, they quickly raised brewing to a fine art, and it became the staple drink of the country. So popular did it become that its aid was invoked whenever it was found necessary to raise funds for public purposes, and the "Church Ales" of a past age were as helpful to the distressed clergy as a modern church bazaar.

The Romans had a great fondness for wine; in fact, the virtues of the juice of the grape were well established as far back as the days of Noah, who drank not wisely but too well of the product of his own vineyards. It has been argued in his defense that he was unacquainted with the strength of wine, but the amount of water previously experienced by Noah should surely be sufficient to purge him of the offense of making too free with the fruit of the vine.

The origin of wine-making is also claimed by the Persians, whose King, Jemsheed, stored a quantity of grapes in his cellar for future use. They fermented and, becoming very acid, were believed to be poisonous, and were so labeled. A lady of the harem, who desired to commit suicide, took freely of the juice and became very drunk. After a lengthened sleep, however, she awoke perfectly well, and was so pleased with her experiment that she promptly finished off the remainder of the "poison." Jemsheed learned what had happened too late to "come in" on the first vintage, but he took steps to insure having a plentiful supply of grape juice in future for himself.

Our sparkling wines we owe to the blind monk, Dom Perignon, cellarer to the Abbey of Hautvilliers. His blindness increased the delicacy of his palate, and as the result of his experiments he succeeded in producing wine which has added so much to the gaiety of nations. It was in the monasteries of the jovial monks that the distillation of spirits was at first solely carried on, and the seductive chartrouse was the discovery of one of the most ascetic religious orders, the Carthusians, who surely needed some compensation for rising every night at twelve o'clock to sing their matins in a cold chapel.

In any account of old drinking customs at this season the Wassail bowl must have front rank, because it played so prominent a part in olden days at every holiday junketing, and it is even now kept up in some remote country districts of England. It owed its origin, according to popular legend, to the health which was drunk by the beautiful Saxon, Rowena, daughter of Hengist, to Vortigern, who had given her father the Isle of Thanet. She entered with a golden bowl of liquor, from which she drank, saying in Saxon, "Be of health, Lord King," to the distinguished guest. History doesn't record, but it may be assumed that Vortigern "suitably responded to the toast." Anyway, he was so struck by her beauty that he married her, and gave her father the kingdom of Kent. The Wassail bowl is a pleasant compound of warm ale, to which several glasses of sherry and some slices of lemon are added. It is flavored with nutmeg and ginger, and when it is about to be served, roasted apples are dropped hissing into the bowl.

In the good old times, when the carol singers went their round on Christmas eve, the great door of "The Hall" in British villages would be thrown open to welcome them, and the portly form of the butler would appear, bearing in his hand the bowl of steaming ale for the entertainment of the choir. Sometimes it happened that after the receipts of sundry Wassail bowls on their parochial perambulations the singers of "Christians, Awake!" needed a good deal of awakening themselves at the conclusion of their round.

The loving cup, or grace cup as it is called at some of the English and French universities, is a survival of the days of the Greeks and Romans, who drank it in honor of their gods. Every time they venerated their deities, or wished health and prosperity to their friends, it was in pure wine, without admixture of any kind, and the Roman gallants were accustomed to drink as many glasses to their mistresses as there were letters in their names. Thus, Martial's excellent proposal:

"Let six full cups to Navea's health go round,
And fair Tustina's be with seven crowned."

The cup used in modern times is a compound of choice wines and spices, similar to the sack of Shakespeare's day. Its adaptation is attributed to the wife of Malcolm Kenmore, who, in order to induce certain ill-mannered Scots to remain at table for the concluding grace, caused a cup of rich wine to be passed among them after it had been said. The massive cup of gold or silver has two handles and a cover, and the partaking of its contents is rather a ceremonious business. No one should drink until the guest on either side of him has stood to "pledge" him. The guest whose turn it is to drink then bows to his neighbors, and raises the cup to his lips, while the "pledger" holds the cover in his right, or dagger, hand. This part of the ceremonial originated in the precaution to keep the dagger hand engaged, as it was a frequent practice for some of the ancient village cut-ups to stab their enemies in the back while drinking. As the he-men of those days possessed mighty thirsts, the death rate was rather high.

Ho! let it circle with the sun—but first
Observe the rite. The nearest to my lord
Upholds its cover, as he slakes his thirst,
Lest in his hand there lurk the treacherous sword.
(Tis thus barbaric usage we record,
When of his life each reveller went in fear.)
But harken to the hospitable word:
Lords, Ladies, Gentlemen, to all good cheer
I drink, and bid you all a hearty welcome here."

The most notable instance of this treachery was the stabbing of Edward the Martyr by orders of Elfrida, as he was drinking in the saddle at Corfe Castle, Dorset.

Among the London lawyers the custom of the loving cup is still strictly observed, and although the guests are supposed to take only one draught of the pleasant beverage, it is recorded that "it chanced not long since at the Temple that, though the number fell short of seventy, thirty-six quarts of the liquor were consumed." This may explain why it is usually a safe

Beware Coughs from common colds That Hang On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

bet to select a lawyer for toast-master.

A halo of fine romance surrounds the "Stirrup Cup," which Scotch and Irish hosts offer to their departing guests to this day. It is the last cup quaffed at the festive board as a prelude to a general "good night," but, as the name implies, it was formerly drunk in the saddle. It recalls the charming old ballad of the departing Crusader:

"The last sarabund has been danced in the hall,
The last prayer breathed by the maiden ere sleeping;
The light of the cresset has died from the wall,
Yet still a love-watch with my lady I'm keeping;
My charger is jangling his bride and chain;
The moment is nearing, dear love, we must sever,
But pour out the wine that thy lover may drain
A last Stirrup Cup to his true maiden ever."

In later and more degenerate days the quaffers of Stirrup Cup earned a bad name, and an old play laments that "there be now many more of your tap-bub cavaliers and knights of the spigot than of errands in the olden days of chivalry."

The term "pledging," as applied to the drinking of healths, was afterwards supplanted by "toasting," the origin of which throws an interesting sidelight on the ways of society in the days of the "Merry Monarch." An old chronicle records that "It happened on a public bath day that a celebrated beauty of those times was in the Cross Bath (at bath) and one of the crowd of her admirers took a glass of the water in which the fair one stood, and drank her health to the company. There was in the place a gay fellow, half befuddled, who offered to jump in, and swore that though he liked not the liquor, he would have the toast." It appears that he was opposed in his resolution; yet his whim gave foundation to the present honor which is done to the lady we mention in our liquor, who has ever since been called a "toast."

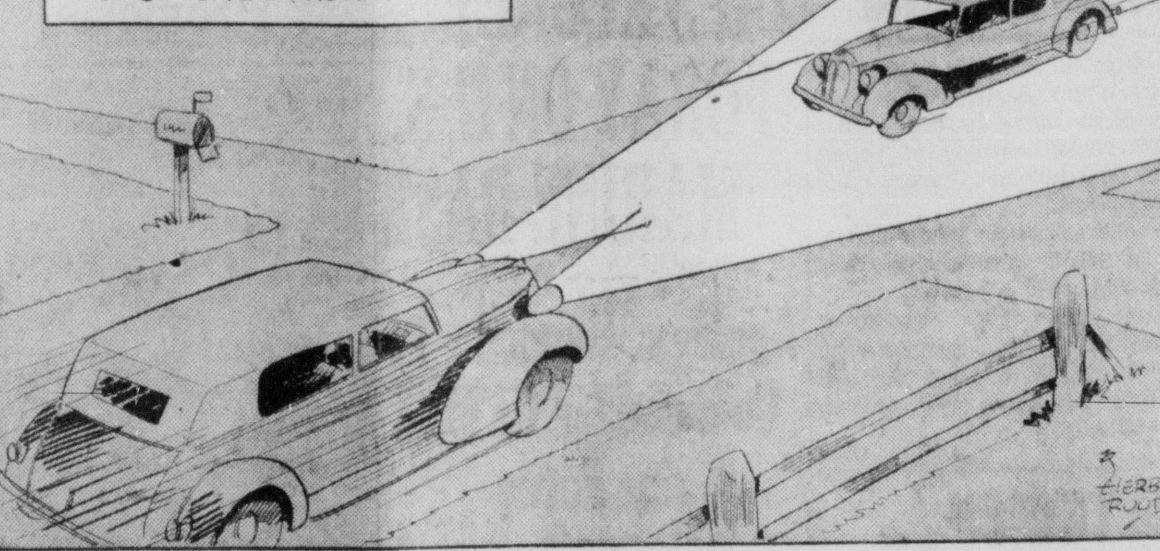

Pledging each other in wine was in reality nothing more than the survival of the once universal custom of parties drinking together in ratification of a bargain. It is in this sense that Jewish and Russian couples drink wine at their betrothal ceremonies. The Hebrew, after drinking, dashes the vessel to the ground, in memory of the destruction of the Temple; whereas the Russian tramples the glass beneath his feet, with the pious wish: "May they thus fall under foot and be trodden to pieces who shall endeavor to sow dissension or discord between us."

Wine was first drunk out of the mazer bowl, made of light maple wood, highly polished, and afterward out of a bugle horn. Silver bowls were next introduced, and about the time Queen Elizabeth's sun was setting, vessels constructed of Venetian glass first made their appearance at state banquets.

Beer was usually carried from the cellar to the table, in the eighteenth century, in large leather tankards, called "Blackjacks," lined with silver, or provided with a silver rim. The "Peg Tankard" was the invention of St. Dunstan, Abbot of Glastonbury, who was probably the first temperance reformer in England. Being shocked at the frequent and sanguinary quarrels of his Saxon flock over their Wassail bowls, he invented a tankard divided into equal spaces by slight pegs, one above another, each division being a legal draught, beyond which it was made a penal offense to drink. It was from the use of this tankard that we obtained the expression, "a peg too low."

The whistle tankard had a whistle attached to its brim, so that the drinker could blow it when he desired the vessel to be refilled. Hence the saying, "if you want more, you must whistle for it." In some cases the whistle was ingeniously contrived at the bottom of the tankard, so that it sounded automatically when the vessel was emptied. The bell-shaped drinking glasses of the sixteenth century were intended to be emptied at one draught, and would only stand in the reversed position. It is from these vessels we have the modern word, "tumbler" or drinking glass.

Many of the beverages dear to the stomachs of our ancestors now have gone by the board, and only in old books of recipes will their ingredients be found. The man who now asked at a bar for a glass of hippocras would run serious risks; and yet Hippocrates, its inventor, might be trusted to know what was a good drink. Similarly, mead, metheglin and bragget—all mainly composed of honey—survive largely in name, though you may still be offered a glass of these pleasant old drinks in the cottages of the English countryside.

Punch, which derives its name from the Persian, "punj," denoting the five ingredients of which it is made, was the favorite drink of our sporting grandfathers after a cold day with the hounds. Even in the present time country hosts may be seen handing out the comforting liquor, ladled from a large steaming bowl, at the close of a convivial gathering. Of prohibition punch perhaps the less said the better.

Many a lamentation has been uttered over the disappearance of the genial ways and pleasant customs of a more careless and more generous age. Hoffman von Fallersleben might have been referring to high prices asked now for really good liquor when he sang:
"For ah! our bottles still decline;
And daily dearer grows our wine,
And flat and void our pockets fall:
Faith! Soon there'll be no times at all!"

But the men of America still retain their inherited love of a glass and holiday good will may still be expressed in liquid form.

U. S. BUSINESS SHOWS FURTHER SLUMP IN WEEK

Associated Press Index of Industrial Activity Dropped to 92.6

The nation's business showed further signs of losing momentum last week.

Lower figures were posted for the manufacture of steel, rail shipments of freight and output of automobiles. The electric power industry, alone among the major divisions, stepped up production.

Retail trade was uneven, ruled by weather conditions. Wholesale reported buyers timid.

The stock market pushed irregularly ahead to the best level since the low of the year touched on October 19, but in the final session of the week gains were cut in some issues.

The Associated Press index of industrial activity dropped to 92.6, the lowest since the end of June, 1936. The week previous it was 94.4, a year ago 95.7.

Trend During October

"The general trend of retail trade in the final days of October was not changed materially from conditions that have prevailed throughout the month," the department of commerce reported in its survey of business in 35 cities.

"The reports indicated that for the entire month of October substantial gains will be registered as compared with the same month last year, as was the case in September. Weather conditions continued to be the dominant factor in buying.

"Wholesale trade continued quiet with buying, for the most part, marked by extreme caution."

The steel industry slowed down operations to 52.1 per cent of capacity from 55.8 the previous week, the American Iron & Steel Institute estimated. A month ago it was at 74.4 and a year ago at 74.3.

Increase of Railroad Rates

At the close of the week the Association of American Railroads decided to ask permission of the interstate commerce commission to boost freight and passenger rates. Requested upturns, it was estimated, would bring an additional $500,000,000 annually to the roads. This in turn would doubtless loosen the purse-strings of many systems for new equipment. A prime beneficiary of such a development would be the steel industry.

It was noted that in the week ended October 23, railroad freight loadings had suffered a sharply seasonal decline. In that week the total of 773,353 cars was down 4.5 per cent from the preceding week and 5.3 per cent under the corresponding week of 1936.

Normally, the week reported is the best of the year. This year's total was 90.9 per cent of average loadings for the corresponding week of the 10 preceding years.

Automobile Out-Turn

Out-turn of automobiles was 90,155 units, compared with 91,905 a week before and 71,095 in the like period last year, Ward's reported.

The electric power industry produced 2,281,636,000 kilowatt hours in the week ended October 23, the Edison Electric Institute reported. This was a somewhat better showing than normal at this time of year in that it represented a modest gain over the previous week. The total was 5.1 per cent ahead of the like week last year.

The bond market swung back and forth irregularly during the week to close generally higher. Commodity prices slid off on the average to the lowest since October, 1937, with virtually all major groups falling to new lows for the year or longer.

Federal Reserve Reports
Business conditions reported by the 12 federal reserve districts included:

Chicago—Retail business picked up. Talk in both wholesale and retail merchandise circles, however, was that buying is being held up, although Christmas goods were ordered in good volume. Retail sales of automobiles continued better than last year during the first three weeks of October.

St. Louis—Rains interfered with harvesting in the southern part of the district. Wholesalers were reported inactive. Retail business was better in some regions.

Comparisons between speed in rail and air transport show that the saving time by the passenger for traveling distances of over one hundred miles or so is in the ratio of three and one-half to one.

FILLER .. ran noa-anaspaqo.

Safety and efficiency of commercial airlines, carrying passengers, depends on the correct distribution of the cargo between the rear and the front compartment.

Dilution of the oil, fouled spark plugs, carbon, and rapid wear on the cylinders are all results of excessive use of the choke.

DO AMERICA'S FLIERS APPRECIATE THE COSTLIER TOBACCOS IN CAMELS?

YOU bet they do! In aviation is one of the most loyal groups of Camel smokers in the country. For example, the famous transcontinental record holder, Col. Roscoe Turner, smokes Camels. So do test-pilot Lee Gehlbach, Capt. Frank Hawks, and TWA's chief pilot, Hal Sneed—to mention only a few. As Col. Turner puts it: "I guess you've noticed that men in aviation are great smokers. And, from what I see, most fliers share my regard for Camels. They need healthy nerves. That's one big reason why so many of us stick to Camels."

And many millions of Americans—more people than smoke any other cigarette in the world—give a hearty o-kay to Camels!

WINIFRED CASTLE works long hours at her editorial desk—smokes a lot. She says: "I can smoke as many Camels as I please and they never get on my nerves."

WARREN PIAGET, crack salesman, drives 50,000 miles—and more—a year. "I get tired," he says. "And I think it's swell the way Camels give me a 'lift'."

PETER KILLIAN is a news photographer. His slant: "Camels are always with me—especially at the table. Camels help my digestion to keep clicking."

EDWARD HURLEY, busy architect, says: "To my way of thinking, a man doesn't really know what honest-to-goodness natural flavor means until he smokes Camels."

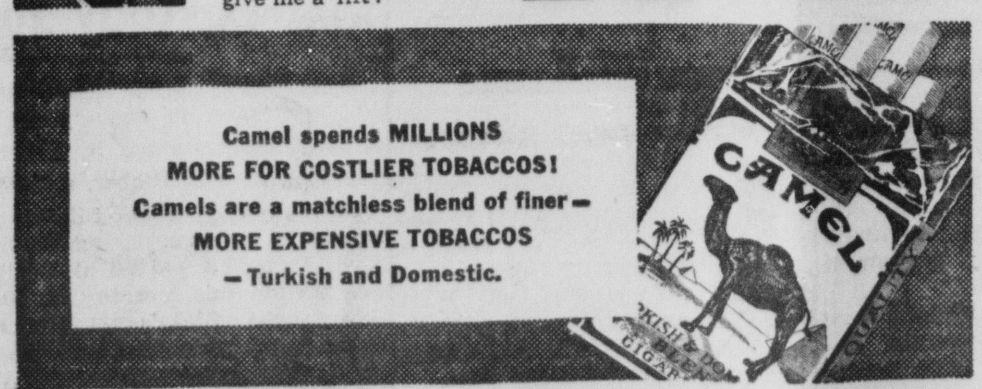

ED GRAFFE, gym instructor, says: "Camels set me right—and that takes in a lot of angles. I can smoke all I please without getting jangled nerves."

MARIE DRISCOLL, business girl, speaks for a good many stenographers when she says: "Camels have everything I like a cigarette to have."

GENE ENGLISH, radio engineer, notices what cigarette the stars like: "Camels seem the favorite. I smoke Camels. They don't make my throat feel scratchy."

Camel spends MILLIONS MORE FOR COSTLIER TOBACCOS! Camels are a matchless blend of finer—MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic.

Activities Among Students at D. H. S. Reported By One of Their Number Today

By DASH, JR.

"Gus" Swan and the new janitor on the second floor really get along together. "Gus" is inclined to linger in the halls after every period before going to his classes, and the janitor has to come up and tell him to go to his room. He does it in a pleasant way, though, and after exchanging a few cracks with him, "Gus" finally goes to his class—to arrive just a couple seconds before the bell rings. Some day he will linger too long, and then the janitor will have the laugh on him.

"Doc" Edwards was too much the center of attraction in trigonometry class, and so Miss West had to move him to an isolated part of the room. He'll have to watch himself or he'll turn out to be a forgotten man.

The school has a lot of new yells now so there ought to be some good cheering done for the remainder of the year. The cheerleaders are getting broken in to, and they ought to know now how to get the crowd to yell. Their aim should be to out-yell Sterling because that place has some very enthusiastic rooters and if they out-yell them they will be doing something.

Mr. Bowers changed the position of the seats in physics class, and Arnold Swan got a seat near the corner of the room. He thought that Mr. Bowers couldn't see him and he was wrestling around with himself and having a great time. Suddenly Bowers told him that if he had to go through those antics he would have to go somewhere else to perform them. After a great deal of blushing, which is a habit of "Gus", he quieted down.

"Moe" Utley is another who insists upon making cracks in physics class. Bowers gets on him pretty often, too.

Don Carry has, at last reached the stage of manhood. He is now seen wearing a brand new hat to school. A snooty little grey job that will undoubtedly show its wear before long. Someone probably will tramp all over it—not by accident, either.

"Pete" Moore, "Scotty" Palmer, "Goon" Miller, "Doc" Edwards, "Huck" Richards, and Arnold Swan went to the Navy-Notre Dame game at South Bend last Saturday. They had seats on the forty-some yard line and really enjoyed the game, so they say. All of them were rooting for Navy except "Huck", who was cheering the Irish on to victory. This is because he plans to go to school there. They left early that same Saturday morning and got back early Sunday morning. Very early, in fact.

In one of his history III classes, Mr. McColey was giving some questions to the class. Before giving one, he said, "Now, ever since the World's Fair of 1933, I've had little trouble with the next question. The question is, 'Who was Talleyrand?'" "Twas quiet for a couple seconds and then said Kenneth Marshall, "Oh, yeah?" This caused quite an uproar for a few moments. It always has, says Mr.

Brain Twizzlers

By PROF. J. D. FLINT

Colonel Carpenter, a man of considerable wealth, had made his strong hand and keen mind factors in the fates of many individuals and groups and he was not without friends—or enemies.

The Colonel's niece was named beneficiary in a large insurance policy held by him and so, one night, an important investigation began because that night the niece had received a late telephone call from the Colonel in which he had said, "Listen, child! I have just been shot. Tell the police that the man was ———, and there his voice had stopped, according to the girl. She couldn't believe that the choking voice could be the Colonel's or that he could be hurt but when the police investigated they found the Colonel's apartment unlocked and him shot through the heart. The room showed no signs of violence and, naturally, mystery shrouded the case.

After it was cleared up the insurance company refused to pay the niece the amount of the policy. Why?

Answer to Saturday's Twizzler I, it, tie, rite, inter, retain, certain, reaction, cremation, importance.

McColey. For you who do not know who Talleyrand was, he was a great diplomat around the time of the American revolution.

As has been previously stated, "Moe" Utley is quite a character in physics class. Wednesday morning a discussion was going on about the expansion and contraction of bridges according to varying temperatures. Up spoke "Moe" and began to tell about a bridge (a draw-bridge) that was raised to permit a boat to go beneath. According to "Moe," when they lowered the bridge again they had to saw two inches off the end to make it close. In other words "Moe" said that the bridge expanded two inches in about three or four minutes. When the class was over most of the fellows could be seen walking out of the room with their pants rolled up.

Imagine the look on Bob Rhodes' face when he walked into the second period English III class and found that he had become confused and had gone to the wrong class. Was his face red? And how. He was the last one to come into the room, and when he saw that someone was in the seat which he thought was his and realized he was in the wrong room, he really looked funny. He dashed out and began to run up the hall, but—too late. The bell rang just as he got out of the room, and so he was late.

What new girl in Dixon high do "Pete" Moore and Don Nicklaus correspond with in third period study hall in 201? She's blonde, a junior, and very nice-looking. Of course she answers their notes.

Why wouldn't Bob Sanborn come out of Full's when he was told that Rose Bevilacqua was outside and wanted to see him? Maybe he smelled something fishy, 'cause after all, he is a freshman, and freshmen have to be on the lookout all the time.

Mr. Bowers can now be seen wearing a pair of glasses around the school. Maybe it's so he can see "Gus" Swan better when he is monkeying around in the corner. Or maybe it's because he made a couple of arithmetical errors lately and he's blaming it on his eyes. Who knows?

The picture of the football team was taken over again Friday night because the other ones didn't come out well. First a couple of pictures of the entire squad were taken and then the picture of the varsity eleven was taken for the year book. The picture of the line was taken separate from that of the backfield, so there will be two separate pictures in the year book. A picture of the heavyweight subs who receive letters will be taken after it has been determined who will get letters and who will not.

Basketball practice has already begun. Coach Sharpe called out all the aspirants to the team Tuesday after school. Cuts in the present squad will be made at intervals. Certain boys on the football squad will also be called out after the football season is over. These also are liable to be cut but will be given a chance to show what they can do. It is for this reason there is no longer a Thanksgiving Day game with Sterling or some other school. Sharpe complains that it makes the football season run too far into the basketball season and does not give the team sufficient practice before the first game.

A scavenger hunt was had by the girls in the B. B. and B. B. club Friday night. Katherine Hecker was the hostess to the club and the hunt started from her house after all the girls arrived. It was begun at 7:30 and all cars had to be back at 9. Charlotte Beede's car pulled in late and should have been penalized, but no penalty was inflicted. There was quite a list of things to be found, about 20 in all. In fact, there was everything from a bowling shirt to a lock (?) of Mr. Bowers' hair. The winning car was Dot Stutzler's. The girls in this car were Dot, Rose Bevilacqua, Margaret Davies, Jeanne Hart, Saran Denton, and Beulah McKay. They got everything except a purple shoe, a lock of Bowers' hair, a package of English Ogie cigarettes, and two other things. The prize was awarded them after everyone had arrived at Hecker's and they had been determined the winner. This prize was a box of candy, and of course it was passed around to all. On top of this Dot forgot it when she left and it is still out at Hecker's.

The alumni have started practicing for their game with D. H. S. They started a week ago and will practice every Sunday. This will be a big game since the alumni have a strong team this year. Among those in the backfield they have Don Miller and Don Barnhart, while in the line they have such stalwarts as "Stubby" Stultz and Jim Naylor. There will undoubtedly not be as big a crowd this year as there was last year because the stores aren't going to close as they did last year. Still the alumni will have a big gang rootin' for them to beat their alma mater and they'll be right in there trying to do it too. The high school has an advantage inasmuch as they have had more practice than the alumni, but the alumni have the advantage of knowing our plays through using them and will be able to tell where most of the plays will go.

OREGON

By MRS. A. TILTON

OREGON—Shirley Tilton Post of the American Legion will sponsor a beef and pork dinner at the Coliseum Tuesday evening, November 2. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the Junior Legion drum and bugle corps.

Mrs. John Colson assisted by Mrs. Bernard Reilly and Mrs. Charles Zittle will entertain the officers' club of the Royal Neighbors of America Camp Tuesday evening.

The American Legion Auxiliary will hold their regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Winter entertained guests over the week end, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Malley and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Seaholm of Chicago.

Mrs. Harry Camling returned home Friday from St. Anthony's hospital in Rockford where she submitted to an operation for appendicitis a week before.

A chorus of more than thirty voices from Rochelle, Davis Junction, Stillman Valley, Byron, Mount Morris, Polo and Oregon under the direction of Jane Harris Stiles will furnish music for Gay-La-Nite at the Oregon Coliseum, November 12.

A piano, Hammond electric organ and two violins will furnish accompaniment. Miss Laura Fischer and Franklin Lundstrom will be the accompanists assisted by Misses Margaret Mattison and Elizabeth Snyder, violinists.

Mrs. Peter Rasmussen entertained thirty-six guests Friday night in celebration of the seventy-ninth birthday anniversary of her mother, Mrs. Grace Clausen. Guests included, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Clausen and family, Mr. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Etes and family, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Wiltfang, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Clausen, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McGuire and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ackerman, Mr. and Mrs. Harm Roos and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Clausen and daughters.

C. A. Farrell suffered torn ligaments of the index finger on his right hand Thursday when it became caught in the car door.

Mrs. L. L. Haselton of Rockford was a guest Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carr.

The Oregon Parent-Teacher Association will sponsor a Cub-Pack for 9, 10 and 11 year old boys of the community. The president, Mrs. R. Ommen, appointed the following to a Pack organization committee: Mrs. Russell Lamb, chairman; Mrs. D. Blanchard, Duane Grimes and R. D. Etnyre. This committee will arrange for meetings of parents for the purpose of training them in Cubbing so that they will be able to better help with the program.

The committee has set November 2 for the first meeting of the parents in the Circuit court room at the court house at 7:30 P. M. Every parent of boys of ages 9, 10 or 11 years is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Garard and Attorney and Mrs. G. K. Garard and son were among guests entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Knauer in Mendota Saturday night, who were celebrating their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Nicholas Sauer and daughter, Margaret were in Chicago to spend the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Harm Roos and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jones were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Wolf at Sterling.

Mr. and Mrs. John Drummond of Ashton and Claude Drummond of Rochelle were callers Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. H. McRoberts.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Montessor and children of Decatur are visitors of Mrs. Montessor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Ferradine. They are enroute to Sarasota Florida to spend the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Ferradine will accompany them for a month's vacation.

Mrs. Elizabeth Delaney was a guest of friends in Rochelle for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Kuntzelman entertained at dinner, Sunday, the latter's parents, Dr. and Mrs. G. D. Runkle of Stockton, in honor of Mrs. Runkle's birthday anniversary. George Blanchard, son of Sheriff Delos Blanchard, celebrated his thirteenth birthday Friday with a party for thirty friends.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Landers and family motored to Baraboo, Wis. Sunday and were guests of Mrs. Charles Gollmar.

William Zeigenfuss, Willard Burright and Sylvan Long, were investigators of a Halloween party Friday night in which about thirty participated. They were divided in groups and given written instructions for a scavenger hunt, taking them to weird and lonely locations, including cemeteries and vacant houses. To end festivities they all gathered at Shepherd's Park for a supper.

Red Ships Divide Cargo of Refugees

For the comfort of 1400 refugees taken aboard the Cooperatza in Spain, about half of them were transferred to the sister ship, Felix Dzerjinsky, during a halt at Kent, England, on the journey to Leningrad. One of the transferred children is just starting down the gangplank to join others on the deck of the Dzerjinsky.

Mooney's Latest Court Plea Denied

San Francisco, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The California Supreme Court denied today Thomas J. Mooney's plea for freedom on a writ of habeas corpus.

Mooney and his attorneys went into the habeas corpus case with no expectation of winning in the California Supreme court, which four times previously had rejected his pleas.

Behind every maneuver in Mooney's "last ditch" legal battle was the idea of an appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

AMERICA IS NOT A PLACE FOR DIVIDED LOYALTY

The Nazi government in Berlin seems bent on making life as tough as possible for people of German descent who no longer live in Germany.

A recent blast from Gen. Hermann Goering's pet newspaper announces that German-blood citizens of other countries must now become agents of the Nazi social and economic program. They must abandon "un-German" points of view, accept the Nazi ideology and be prepared to "undergo all sacrifices and accept full responsibility" in the present struggle of the German nation.

This, of course, is nothing less than a demand that all Germans living in countries like the United States must automatically hyphenate themselves. They must keep tongue in cheek when they take citizenship oaths abroad. They must dilute their new citizenship, and be prepared constantly to sell out the land of their adoption on orders from Berlin.

That any appreciable percentage of Germans in America will pay any attention to this creed is extremely doubtful. The tragic days of the World War showed that American citizens of German birth or descent were as loyal as any. Then, as now, the government in Berlin made things pretty difficult for them by demanding that they go down the line for the kaiser on all occasions; but only a scattered handful paid any attention.

But the point is that the Nazi government is committing the same grave error that the kaiser's government committed.

A plea of this kind harms the government that issues it. It compels other governments to be distrustful. In the amount of ill-will it raises it must inevitably react against its sponsors.

Furthermore, it makes things bad for Americans of German descent. America is a democracy—the very antithesis of everything National Socialism stands for. Any American who sets out to become an agent of the Nazi program, as General Goering urges, automatically ceases to be a good American citizen.

There is one thing more to be said.

All of us, if we trace our ancestry back very far, are Americans of foreign descent. If the descent is recent, we are bound to have a sentimental attachment for the old country. That is perfectly natural, and the most ardent patriot cannot object to it.

But any American who goes beyond that sentimental attachment and tries actively to transplant to this country the ideology of his fatherland—especially when that ideology is a direct denial of America's most cherished ideals—is forfeiting his citizenship. He has no business here. He will sooner or later draw down on himself the reprisals of the American people.

And any German-American who is tempted by General Goering's eloquence might bear that fact in mind.

WHILE CONGRESS STALLED

For several years now Congress has had before it legislation which would tighten the federal food and drug laws. Subjected to all kinds of pressures, Congress has let the matter slide.

Now we get the tragedy of the "elixir of sulfanilamide," which has caused more than 50 deaths to date.

This tragedy can be attributed pretty directly to the laxity of our existing legislation. Dr. Morris Fishbein declares bluntly in the Journal of the American Medical Association that present federal laws governing the food and drug administration are "so woefully inefficient as to hamper its authority."

Let's hope that we don't need another tragedy like this one to jar our national legislators into action.

A CALL TO ARMS

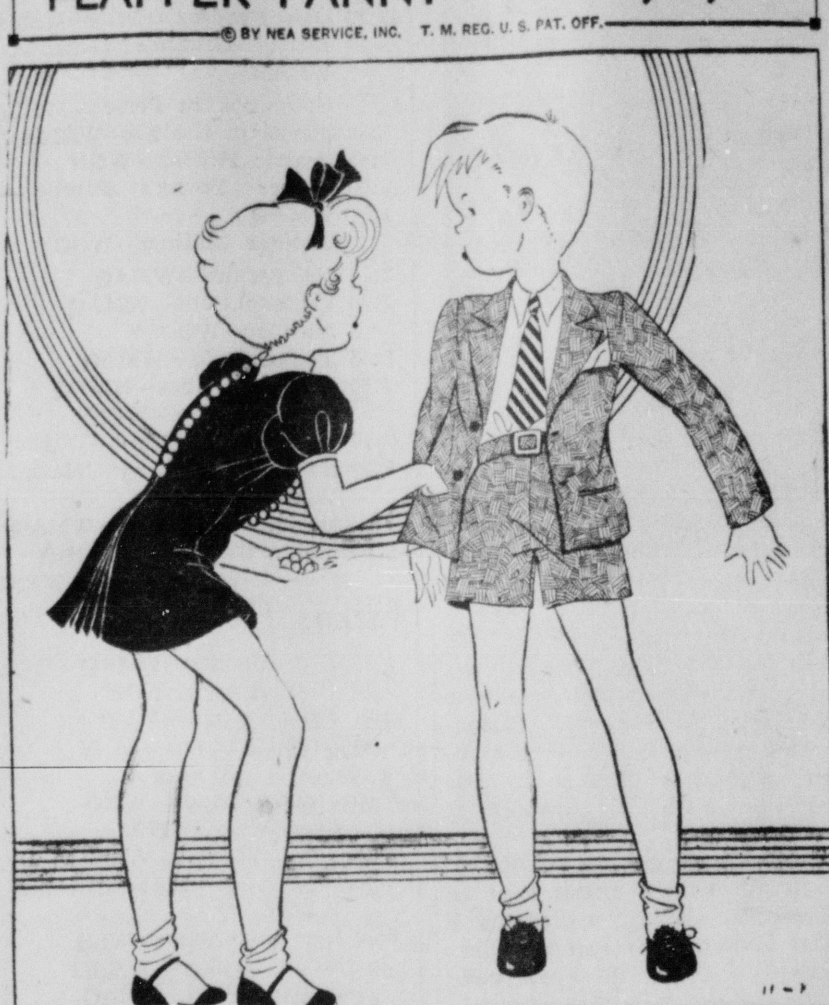

One of the unnoticed by-products of the depression—unnoticed, except by those directly involved—has been a rise in the death rate from tuberculosis.

Dr. Kendall Emerson, managing director of the National Tuberculosis Association, pointed this out the other day, remarking that the death rate from tuberculosis in the United States rose from 54.5 per 100,000 in 1935 to 55.4 in 1936. The rise is small, of course, but significant; as Dr. Emerson says, it should be taken as "a call to arms."

The country has made great strides in its fight against the white plague in the last few decades. It cannot afford to see its gains diminished even slightly. You might remember this, when the Christmas seals go on sale next month.

F'INSTANCE . . .

BY DON DANIELSON

After playing Johnny-One-Note and holding down the sustaining foot pedal for the past two sessions, we are back today to running up and down the scale hitting a few sharps but trying to sneak across the flats. While we were about the business of specializing, a number of notes collected around the desk which might be transposed into a tune for

CHAPTER SEVEN

Last week we attended one of the strangest concerts on record. Fred Peterson of 518 E. Eighth street invited us out to hear Mickey do tricks with the scale. There were no footlights, no overtures and no curtain calls but there was no lack of temperament on the part of Senior Mickey who acted about as stubborn as an operatic tenor. No mere crack of the baton would start the concert—instead the stage had to be jostled, Mickey had to be coaxed, begged and mildly cussed. Finally, however, Mickey relented and started his solo—and a remarkable exhibition it was. The first notes sounded somewhat like the chirp of a robin but then shifted to the higher and more sustained notes of a canary and Mickey's throat throbbled with a high clear note.

Mr. Peterson has had Mickey three weeks now and is already planning radio programs in the hope his pupil will arouse the interest of some sponsor. Mickey didn't just come and ask to be a radio star—Mr. Peterson caught him in a trap because Mickey is a mouse . . . a Walt Disney character in the flesh.

There is a girl at the court house who is interested—when she thinks she has a hot tip—in putting an occasional two dollars on the horses. Last Monday she came back to work and found an open program on a desk. One of the men in the office had been to the game of the Chicago Bears and had returned with a souvenir program. Noting the fine playing of the star fullback he had put a check beside the name of Bronko Nagurski. The stenographer mistook the football program for a racing schedule and thought, with the check beside the name, she had run across something hot. That afternoon she inquired about a broncho named Nagurski on which she wanted to place a little money. Bronko is still in the running field but he's no nag, my friend.

In Polo for some unknown reason the front door mailbox at a certain lady's home is marked, "For second, third and fourth class mail" and the box at the side entrance is marked "For first class mail."

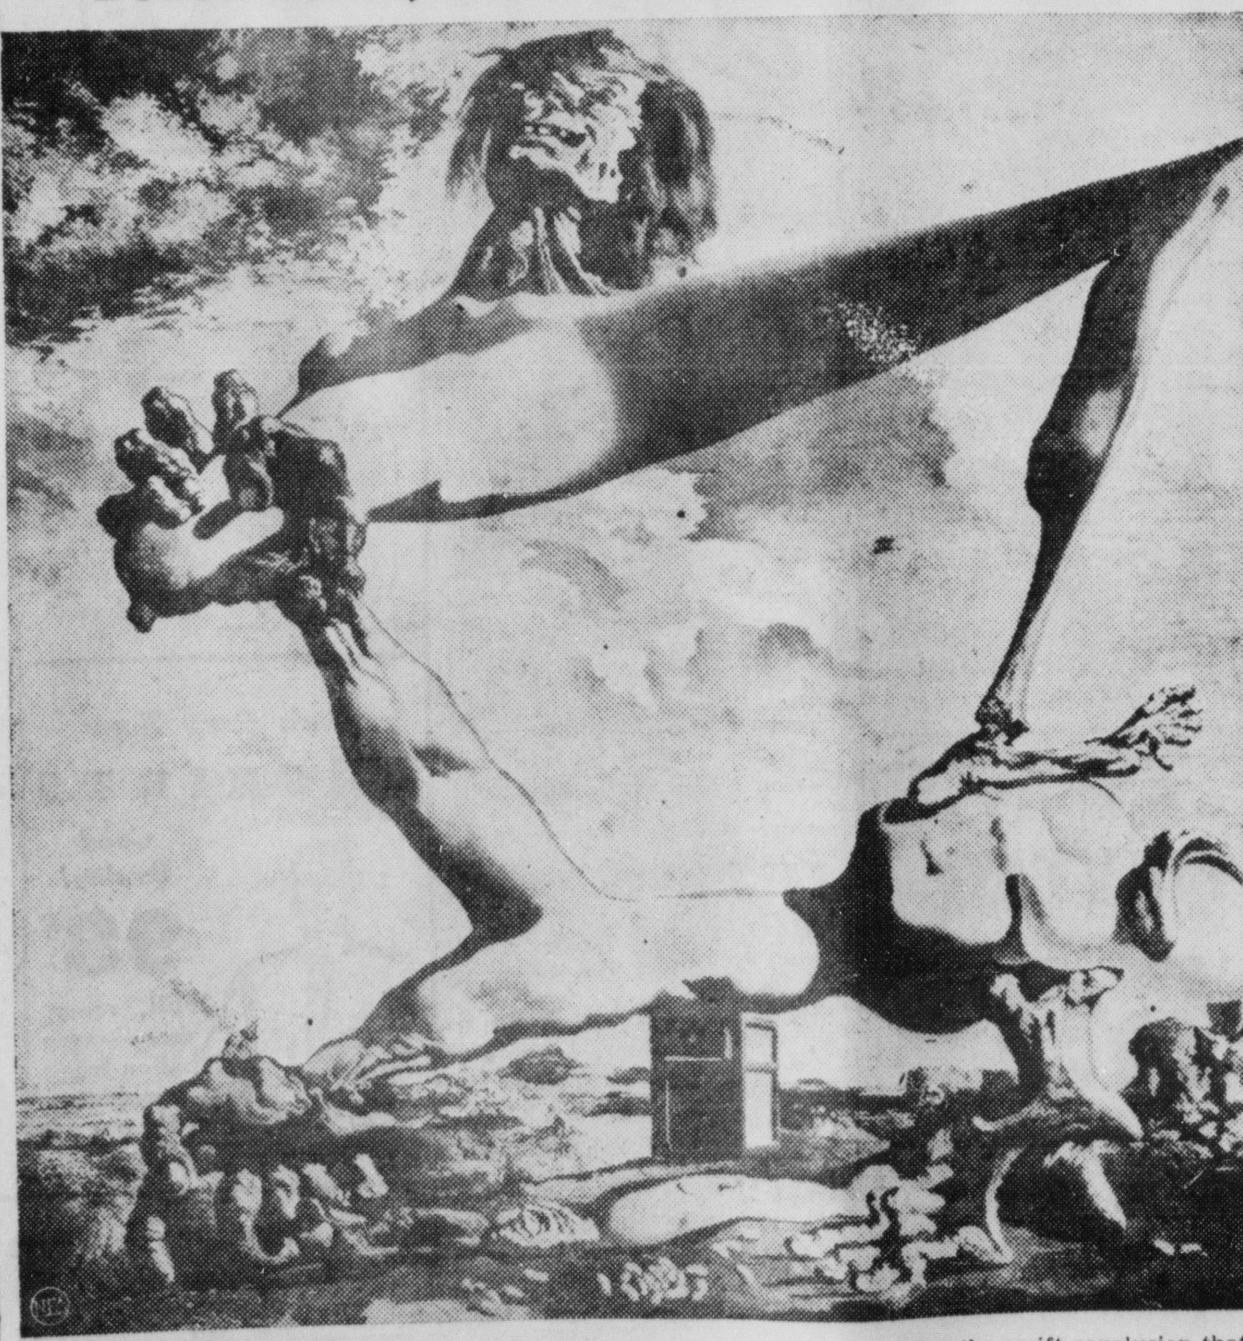

Even sober old history has its funny side once in a while. We ran across these facts the other day: The first telegram sent from Dixon was September 25, 1848 to a Mr. Wangle at the National hotel, Peru and read "Have two kegs liquor been left at your house directed to me if so then answer paid here" and was signed W. H. 'Latshaw. And the first telegram to be received here was the answer which said "Have not heard or seen anything of the kegs, Wangle."

A notice of a local revival meeting was tossed on our desk the other day with the written assurance that "We'll fight the devil till hell freezes over — then go after him on skates."

And in closing the books for this week let us inform you that the sign outside of Dixon declares that it is 12 miles to Amboy and the sign on the edge of Amboy reads—Dixon, 13 miles. A round trip saving of one mile.

Although the Green Bay Packers threw 255 forward passes and completed 108, as against 170 thrown and 58 completed by the Bears last year, 16 of the latter went for touchdowns as against 18 for the Packers.

Boiled Beans, Civil War and Salvador Dali

The subtitle of the above painting by Salvador Dali, Spanish artist, justifies the swift conclusion that it is one of the horrors of war. Dali calls it "Soft Construction of Boiled Beans (Premunition of Civil War)" and it is now on view before oh-ing and ah-ing Pittsburghers, at the 35th annual international exhibition of paintings at the Carnegie Institute there. It took fourth prize.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. I think they always indicate the feminine side of a woman, but the independent woman apparently disagrees with me in saying, "Femine frills and furbelows are, after all, merely superficial trappings. If any one thinks that the modern girl, because she wears a Victorian evening gown and knows how to use her eyelashes and fan, has returned to the shy ineffectiveness reputed to women of that era — well, just follow her the next morning to her office or to the golf links — and look to your laurels. She is apt to trim you in either field, and offer her favorite brand of cigarettes as consolation." Well, my comeback is that, nevertheless, the frills and furbelows indicate her inescapable femininity.

DO YOU KNOW ILLINOIS? YEARS AGO

By EDWARD J. HUGHES, Secretary of State

The Secretary of State of Illinois is the State Librarian. The State Library and Archives Division under his jurisdiction contain much information concerning your state. Any questions which are of particular interest to readers and which are not covered in this series will be answered immediately. Address all communications Edward J. Hughes, Secretary of State, Capitol, Springfield, Illinois.

Q. When was slavery first introduced into Illinois?

A. 1722.

Q. Under whose jurisdiction was slavery in Illinois at this period?

A. From 1724 to 1763 the government, of police over, and traffic in negro slaves in Louisiana, of which Illinois was a part, was regulated by the King of France.

Q. What was the status of slavery in Illinois under the British?

A. By proclamation it was declared that the late subjects of the King of France should enjoy the same rights and privileges "the same security of their persons and effects" as formerly. Slavery was at that time recognized in her colonies by Great Britain.

Q. What were the regulations governing slavery while the Illinois country remained under the State of Virginia, 1778-1787?

A. "That the French and Canadian inhabitants, and the other settlers of the Kaskaskias, St. Vincents, and the neighboring villages, who have professed themselves citizens of the State of Virginia, shall have their possessions and titles confirmed to them and be protected in their rights and liberties." This was interpreted that the right of property in slaves should be recognized and protected.

Q. How did slavery fare under the Northwest Ordinance of 1787?

A. Although slavery was prohibited in all the territory the ordinance contained the clause: "saving however to the French and Canadian inhabitants and other settlers of the Kaskaskias, St. Vincents, and the neighboring villages, who have heretofore professed themselves citizens of Virginia, their laws, and customs now in force among them relative to the descent and conveyance of property."

Q. What was the effect of the prohibitory slavery clause of the Northwest Ordinance?

A. It was variously interpreted as guaranteeing slavery, that it freed children born after 1787, and Gov. Edwards contended that the whole Ordinance was unconstitutional.

Q. What was the result of the controversial attitudes concerning the slavery clause?

A. General Harrison was induced in 1802 to call a delegate convention to consider the question.

Q. Who were the delegates from the Illinois country to the convention?

A. Shadrach Bond, John Moreloch, and Jean F. Perry from St. Clair county; and Robert Morrison.

Pierre Menard and Robert Reynolds from Randolph county.

Q. What was the result of this convention?

A. Congress was memorialized setting forth the great benefits which would flow to the people from slave-holding, and praying for the repeal or modification of the sixth article of the Ordinance of 1787.

Q. How was this memorial reported out of Congressional Committee?

A. The committee, of which John Randolph was chairman reported, in March, 1803 "that the labor of slaves is not necessary to promote the growth and settlement of colonies in that region."

THREE SPEAKERS ADDRESS WOMEN LEAGUE. VOTERS

Delegates from Winnebago, Stephenson and DeKalb counties met with members of the Dixon League of Women Voters for lunch Saturday at the St. Luke's church.

After songs of greeting had been sung in honor of the visitors, Mrs. H. A. White, president of the local league, introduced Mrs. Hasseltine Byrd Taylor who gave a summary of the findings of the child welfare conference which met in session during the morning. This was followed by a report by Mrs. Laura Hughes Lundie on the findings of the education department.

Mrs. White then called on Mrs. R. C. Bourland of Rockford who is personnel chairman who explained the survey on patronage about to be undertaken by the national league.

Mrs. A. F. Moore of Dixon announced that a benefit card party would be given Thursday, Nov. 4 at the home of Mrs. H. U. Bardwell to which the public is invited.

Mrs. White introduced the principal speaker of the day, Mrs. George G. Bogert, president of the Illinois League of Women Voters, who spoke on "The League in the Community."

Mrs. Lundie in her talk to the morning group called attention to the obsolete structure of our Illinois school system and urged abolishment of township treasurers and trustees. She declared that $4,515,000 is now owed to the Illinois schools and that nothing is being done at present to make this good. Lee county, she reported made an excellent showing in the survey of the school situation in the state and a decided lack of graft was found in the local unit.

Mrs. Bogert as the afternoon speaker urged members to use every effort to "humanize government" in order that it may be understood and for better participation in democracy. The league, she said, is working to restore first hand contacts and stimulate a healthy curiosity in government. Numerous projects of education in town, county and national government are being advanced by the league. The women of the nation Mrs. Bogert declared, must take action and participate in these projects and thereby "be in the know."

WA-TAN-YE ENTERTAIN

Misses Alice and Martha Meppin entertained the Wa-Tan-Ye club, Thursday evening, Oct. 28th at their home on North Galena avenue.

The meeting was called to order by the club president, Lucille Poole. The roll call was taken and the minutes were read and approved. There were 18 present. The main business of the evening was the election of the board of directors, composed of five members. After the adjournment of the business meeting a very delightful social hour was enjoyed. Prizes were awarded to those giving the best performance in stunts and games which were played. Before the conclusion of the social hour delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

LADIES' AID TO MEET WEDNESDAY

St. James Ladies' Aid society will meet Wednesday for an all-day meeting with Mrs. Norman Miller.

True Blue Class Enjoys Meeting

The True Blue class of the Christian church held their monthly meeting at the church parlors on the afternoon of Oct. 26. The meeting opened in the usual manner by all joining in the singing of hymns. Mrs. Hattie Lebre lead the devotionals and a brief business session followed. The monthly letter written by Mrs. J. E. Reagan of Hollywood, Calif., was read to the class. Her letters are looked forward to each month by every member of the class. The ladies are planning to have a Thanksgiving dinner at the church in November.

A committee composed of Mrs. Lebre and Mrs. Harry Stauffer was appointed to supervise the placing of baskets of food in needy homes during the Thanksgiving season. After the class benediction, Mrs. Frank Gates, chairman of the entertainment committee, lead the ladies in an hour of merriment by taking part in several Halloween stunts. The hostess, Mrs. James Leach and Miss Bennett served tempting refreshments.

Mrs. Butterfield Honored at Shower

Mrs. Elmer Shilling and Miss Loyola Fitzpatrick entertained Friday evening at the former's home with a miscellaneous shower in honor of Mrs. Fred Butterfield, who was married on October 23 at Royal Oaks, Mich. The evening was spent in playing bunco, Mrs. Ora Blanding winning first prize. Mrs. Charles Randall, consolation and Mrs. Gene Coffey, the traveling prize. Each guest gave her favorite recipe to the bride.

The spirit of Halloween was carried out in the favors consisting of colored paper hats, balloons, horns, etc. A dainty luncheon was served by the hostesses. Thirty guests presented Mrs. Butterfield with many beautiful and useful gifts. At a late hour the guests departed extending congratulations and best wishes to the recent bride.

HONOR MRS. BUTTERFIELD

Mrs. Ralph Gonnerman entertained 12 guests at a 6 o'clock dinner Thursday evening in honor of Mrs. Fred Butterfield, nee Alice Randall. The Halloween spirit was carried out in the pretty decorations. Mrs. Butterfield was the recipient of a lovely guest present with the congratulations of all present.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Randal entertained 30 guests Saturday evening with a miscellaneous shower for Mrs. Fred Butterfield. After a social evening a delicious luncheon was served and the bride was presented with many lovely gifts with best wishes for her future happiness of all present.

Down With Vermin!

TO PIPE HERE

When that famous gentleman, the "Pied Piper of Hamelin", lifts his musical flute here on Friday, Nov. 5, he will draw all the children in town to see him. (And it is rumored that, this time, most of the parents will follow him too!) For who can resist the magnetic combination of the Piper, the Little Lame Boy, the good burghers of Hamelin Town and the Marionettes, who present all these rollicking characters?

For several years, the company of C. Ray Smith has brought the puppet people of fiction, history and the motion picture world direct from Olvera Street, Los Angeles, entertaining and diverting young and old alike with the wizardry of his productions. This time the staging is more colorful and novel than ever before: A new lighting effect brings into startling array the scenes and people within the Magic Mountain. The Marionettes always bring magic with them, drawing us away from mundane things to realms of phantasy and imagination—and, accompanied by the excellent and well-chosen music for which this producer is noted, the event is one not to be missed.

Sponsored by Dixon High School P. T. A. the puppets will prance on the stage of Dixon high school, Nov. 5, at 7:30 P. M. Matinee and evening performances are expected to fill the auditorium, so an early reservation will result in the certainty of not being disappointed. At the evening performance, the curtains will be drawn aside to display the backstage magic of manipulating the quaint figures—a treat to which everyone always looks forward.

Phyllis Heckman Hostess At Fine Halloween Party

Mrs. Phyllis Heckman entertained sixteen guests at a Halloween party Friday evening at her home. Bats, cats, witches, cornstalks and pumpkins decorated the house.

The evening was spent playing bunco with first prize for the ladies going to Mrs. Wilson Walker, first prize for the men to Kenneth Edison, second prize to Woodrow Wurtzburger and consolation to Harry Kelly. Russell Lind of Chicago was an out-of-town guest and following bunco he entertained the guests with magic, card tricks, etc.

After partaking of delicious refreshments the guests departed for their homes.

LITTLE FRIENDS ARE HALLOWEEN PARTY GUESTS SATURDAY

Mary Ruth and Sammy Yates entertained a number of their little schoolmates and cousins at a Halloween party Saturday night. Games were enjoyed after which refreshments were served and a fine time enjoyed.

St. Patrick's Fall Festival Plans Are Completed

Plans have been completed for St. Patrick's parish fall festival to be held at St. Patrick's hall, Amboy, Nov. 4, 5, 6 and 7.

The festival will open with a card party—bridge and 500, prizes and lunch—on Thursday, Nov. 4 at 8 o'clock sharp.

An oyster supper will be served on Friday evening, Nov. 5 at 6 o'clock. The menu: oyster stew, crackers, pie and coffee.

Big double feature on Saturday evening—minstrel show, with a variety of exceptionally good numbers at 8 o'clock. And Don LeRoy's famous nine piece band at 9 o'clock.

Sunday evening supper will be served at 5:30. The menu: meat loaf, creamed potatoes, cabbage salad, rolls, pie and coffee. Dancing at 9 o'clock with Leake's orchestra supplying the music. The hope chest will be awarded at 11:30 p. m.

A carnival Halloween spirit will prevail throughout these days of the festival. To all we extend a hearty invitation to come and make merry with us on these occasions.

The Committees

DAUGHTERS OF UNION VETERANS MEET

Anna Kellogg Baker tent, No. 81, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, met Thursday evening at the G. A. R. hall. A picnic dinner was served at 6:30 honoring Mrs. Myrtle Hoeft of Bloomington, Ill., department president, who made her inspection of the local tent at the business session following. Members of the Tent enjoyed a large cake which was presented by Mrs. Elizabeth Close.

At the business meeting, it was reported that Mrs. Nettie Coakley was seriously ill. A rummage sale was planned for the near future. Mesdames Irene Vickery, Addie Eastman and Laura Stauffer compose the committee in charge of the November activities. At the close of the meeting, the honored guest, Department President Hoeft, was presented with a beautiful bouquet of chrysanthemums.

DELICIOUS DINNER AT MAYTOWN CHURCH

Approximately 500 portions of delicious chicken met their ultimate fate yesterday afternoon and evening at the St. Patrick's hall in Maytown. Rev. Urban Halmaier was in charge of the ceremonies, that left everyone with that inner-glow which only good food can bring. The event drew guests from every part of Lee county. Many Dixonites were in evidence at the supper, which was served in the basement. A bazaar was held on the first floor that caused most of the supper guests to stay over and participate in the fun.

Nurses Honor Bride-to-be

Miss Mary Brasky was honored at a tea Friday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock when Mrs. Hazel Miller, Miss Edna Johnson, Miss Elizabeth Callahan and Miss Marjorie Lampman entertained the Nurses' alumnae at Miss Callahan's home.

The party was also a surprise shower for Miss Brasky who will become the bride of Donald Hutten of Sterling in the near future.

TO FREEPORT CHURCH CONFERENCE

Twenty members of the Woman's auxiliary of the St. Luke's church went to Freeport this morning to attend the regional conference at the Grace church. The speakers were Bishop Bentley of Alaska and Mrs. H. B. Harvey of Manila. This evening Bishop Bentley will be introduced at a parish dinner in the Guild room of the church at 6:30 o'clock.

HOUSE GUEST

Miss Delores Knowles spent the weekend with Miss Jean Murray. Miss Knowles is head librarian at the Roosevelt school in Peoria. Her father, Dr. Dnovies, is on the staff at the Elgin state hospital and has a large farm in southern Illinois in the heart of the oil district.

Many Attend Open House At Kirkland

George Ault of Kirkland, Ill., held open house Sunday. About 1,000 friends responded to his invitation to visit his turkey farm where 12,000 turkeys roam the fields.

In addition to these fine birds, Mr. Ault has another hobby. It is his beautiful sorrel four white footed high school horse which is seven years old and was raised in that famous horse country of Mexico, Mo. The intelligence shown and the many maneuvers of this pet brought forth great admiration of the interested visitors.

Dr. and Mrs. Z. W. Moss, Dr. and Mrs. Warren G. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Berry Lennon and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Mulinix of Dixon were guests.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Miss Phyllis Wilson entertained a group of friends at her home Friday evening at a Halloween party. The guests were as follows: Dortha Noble, Joe Wright, Helen Jolly, John Joe Thomas, Jr., Alice Wilson, Arthur Eastman, Phyllis Wilson and Bud Wilson. The early part of the evening was enjoyed with games, Joe Wright and John Joe Thomas winning the prizes. Later in the evening refreshments were served. A few more games were played and the guests departed, all having had a very delightful time.

ENTERTAIN FOR SCHOOL FACULTY

Mesdames Lancaster, Fraser, Bowers and Sharp entertained the members of the high school faculty and their wives and husbands at 7 o'clock dinner at the Coffee House Saturday evening. After dinner bridge was played at the Lancaster home.

DINNER GUESTS

Mrs. S. W. Lehman and Miss Dorothy Hurst of Bluff Park were dinner guests Sunday of Mrs. Alice Beede.

Celebrates Birth Date with Party

Miss Anna Mae Newcomb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gates, celebrated her 17th birthday anniversary by being hostess to six couples at a Halloween party, Friday evening at her home, 819 East Third street. Halloween games and stunts kept up a continuous round of merriment, but the most exciting time was when the hostess unwrapped the many gifts presented to her and read the original birthday congratulations.

Jack o' lanterns lighted the dining room where the table was decorated in Halloween colors and a large birthday cake graced the center of the table from which light refreshments were served. All departing guests assured the hostess of a very enjoyable evening.

PRESBYTERIAN AUXILIARY TO MEET

The Presbyterian auxiliary meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Guy Merriman at 820 Brinton avenue Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock instead of on Tuesday.

SUNDAY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Randall and Judith Ann Randall entertained Sunday with a 12 o'clock dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Butterfield.

GUILD TO MEET

Friday Afternoon—St. Agnes Guild of St. Luke's church will meet Friday, Nov. 5 at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. W. D. Hart, 510 E. Fellows street.

HOUSE GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Peterson and children, Mrs. John Trendle, Carl Herget, Jack Wetter and Lowell Smith, all of Peoria, were house guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hyde over the week-end.

Huey's One Time Lieutenant Plans A Political Body

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith—one-time Huey Long lieutenant—announced today he is establishing in Washington headquarters for his organization in the "committee of one million".

Smith said he had contracted to take over Father Coughlin's so-called Sunday afternoon radio network and will begin a series of talks November 14.

The "committee of one million", Smith said, will oppose "concentration of authority in the hands of the President, a tendency to establish industrial dictatorship in the names of wages and hours bills; the nazism of agriculture; dictatorship in the name of democracy; the rising tide to overcome states' rights; governmental encouragement to lawless groups chief of which is the C. I. O., headed by John L. Lewis, and an attempt to bring us into a European war in the name of peace."

MRS. HAHN'S SON SPEAKS AGAINST MOTHER AT TRIAL

Told To Relate Story Of Her Friendship With Obendorfer

Cincinnati, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Oscar Hahn, 12-year-old son of Anna Marie Hahn, testified today at his mother's murder trial that she had directed him to relate an earlier story concerning her friendship with George Obendorfer.

Obendorfer died in a Colorado Springs, Colo., hospital Aug. 1. He was accompanied from Cincinnati by Mrs. Hahn and the youth. The case contended the 67-year-old cobbler was fatally poisoned by the woman.

The first defense witness, Oscar took the stand after Judge Charles S. Bellah overruled a defense motion for acquittal.

Prosecutor Dudley Miller Outcalt drew from the boy an assertion that Obendorfer "couldn't hardly stand up" when the three of them left Denver for Colorado Springs and that his mother kept a bottle containing a violent purgative oil in her home.

Outcalt continued: "When you got back from Colorado didn't you say you only met Obendorfer in Chicago by chance?"

"Yes."

"And you said that because your mother told you to?"

"Yes."

On trial charged with the death of 78-year-old Jacob Wagner, Mrs. Hahn also is charged with murder in the death of George Gsellman. The court has permitted testimony concerning the deaths of Obendorfer and Albert Palmer, 72, retired Cincinnati watchman.

Scientists Pondering Future of Dionne Quintuplets; Babes Play

Callander, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Dionne quintuplets sang "Marlborough Going to War" and heard the story of the Little Red Hen today, oblivious to the fact that great scientific minds were pondering their future.

When shall they be brought in closer contact with life as it is lived? How shall they be educated when they get beyond their present nursery-school stage? Shall they continue to be shown to the public?

Those were questions discussed by biologists, medical experts and educators as "The Dionne Quintuplet Special" took them away from Callander after a trek from a Toronto conference on the quints' progress.

These plans are under consideration.

The building of a school near the nursery, where the five sisters would be educated along with a group of other children who are physically fit and stimulating.

Dr. Allan R. Dafoe also told the scientists the quints' guardians 'are looking forward hopefully to the time when the Dionne family will all be under one roof.

"Just when that will be," he said, "we cannot say at present, but that is the goal toward which we are striving."

Dr. Frank N. Freeman of the University of Chicago, said after the conference he thought the quints should go to a modern school where they will be associated with other children.

CHICAGO-DIXON PARTY

Several Dixon friends of the Chicago Dixons club have received invitations to attend the second annual party and dance to be held Saturday, Nov. 13, at the Northside auditorium, 3730 North Clark street, Chicago. Officers of the club are: Dr. Anna M. Slain, president; J. T. Lynch, vice president, and Mrs. Naurine Oakley, secretary.

The committee in charge of the event is composed of the following: Mr. and Mrs. William Archer, Miss Bess Blackburn, Mrs. N. Connors, Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Freed, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Graff, Mrs. Pat Harrison, Mrs. E. Hendrix, Mrs. Elizabeth Knapp, Mrs. J. T. Lynch, J. P. McCrystal, Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Monahan, Dr. C. W. Oakley and E. Thurman.

CARS COLLIDE

Harold Bennett, driving east on First street Saturday night about 7:30, struck a parked car belonging to Robert Boyd in the 1300 block on First street. Both cars were damaged and Bennett sustained cuts about the face.

About 11 o'clock Saturday night, Henry Channess, 1410 First street, reported to the police that a driver had crashed into his parked car, then hit a second parked machine and continued without stopping. Both of the parked cars were slightly damaged.

Came as Inspector

Lynch came to the department in 1933 as an inspector. Previously he had spent 20 years in nursery work.

Before the migratory waterfowl season is ended there will come the opening of the quail, rabbit and pheasant shooting periods and the trapping season to increase the problem of enforcement.

Although the department co-operates fully with the federal warrens regarding the taking of ducks and geese, the authority of the state wardens is somewhat limited. State inspectors may make arrests for violation of the shooting hours, possession and daily limits, use of guns firing more than three shots successively and the use and type of blinds.

The federal men have charge of the other government regulations, such as the ban against shooting over baited waters, proper use and number of decoys, and duck stamps. However, the state officers assist in checking hunters on all points.

BISHOP OF ALASKA HERE

The Right Reverend John B. Bentley, Suffragan Bishop of the Episcopal church in Alaska, will be the guest speaker at a parish dinner in the Guild room of St. Luke's church here tonight at 6:30 P. M.

Bishop Bentley, a dynamic speaker, has been in attendance at the general convention of the church in Cincinnati and is filling several engagements on the return to his diocese. Through the efforts of the rector of St. Luke's this famous churchman has been secured for the annual Fall Parish dinner to be held tonight.

SKYDART STOPS HERE

"Skydart," the Walgreen twin-motored Lockheed passenger plane, dropped into the Dixon airport Saturday evening about 7 o'clock for a brief stop, after a trip from St. Paul in an hour and 38 minutes. The ship was piloted by Justin Dart and Charles R. Walgreen was one of the passengers. Mr. Walgreen stayed at his Hazelwood estate over Sunday and Mr. Dart continued his flight to Chicago Saturday evening, returning to

During the last week, there have been immense flocks of ducks on the ponds throughout the county, according to reports, but the Canadian flight has not yet started, according to Dixon hunters who are in Canada, hunting bigger game, and who state that the Canada ducks have not begun to migrate on account of the mild weather.

Private Hunting Preserves Scene Of Activity Now

Private duck hunting preserves throughout Lee county became active this morning on the first day of the season and scores of hunters were in the blinds at sun rise. Some of the Dixon hunters had returned home at noon without having bagged a single bird while others reported a very successful season opening.

Saturday, declaring that "irrespective of technical questions involved, I, as governor, am determined that partisan considerations shall not enter into the administration of old age assistance.

Nominations Rejected

The nominations from 42 counties were rejected recently, at the governor's direction, because they did not give representation to both political parties. The county welfare superintendents will handle local administration of old age assistance, in a program for greater state control.

Mr. Horner asserted that the "spirit of the old age assistance law" had been ignored, in the Attorney General's ruling. If they remain adamant, the issue may go to the courts for a solution.

"County boards will be best advised which follow the rules and regulations of the public welfare department," Governor Horner said.

BORAH ATTITUDE ON CONVENTION NOT YET CLEARED

Previously Advised Against It, Now Non-Committal

Chicago, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho conferred today with Harrison E. Spangler, Republican national committeeman from Iowa and one of the leading proponents of a mid-term convention of the party.

Borah, who previously advised against such a conference, withheld any immediate comment "because some things are developing and I do not want to say anything until they have developed."

The Republican national committee will meet here Friday to decide whether a convention will be called before next year's congressional elections.

At a recent meeting of the party's national executive committee in Washington, Spangler presented a poll of 11,000 officers of Republican clubs and other party organizations showing 94 per cent in favor of a meeting to draft a "declaration of fundamental principles."

Former President Herbert Hoover has suggested that a convention be held and that a committee of "distinguished Republicans" formulate a statement of policy for submission to the delegates.

Fear Controversy

Borah contended in a statement two weeks ago that an off-year convention would have no authority.

"Furthermore, if such views are put out as being party views, I believe a wide controversy will start at once," he said then. "In fact, there would be no better way to stir discord than to start such a convention. We should wait until the voters can choose their delegates."

Chairman John D. M. Hamilton, who has opined the majority of members of the national committee would vote to call the convention, will arrive tomorrow.

The first group discussion of the proposal may take place tomorrow, when Representative Everett Dirksen of Illinois will entertain members of the Republican congressional committee at a luncheon.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

IN JAPAN, ONCE EACH YEAR, PRAYERS ARE SAID, AND INCENSE BURNED BY HIGH PRIESTS OF THE BUDDHIST TEMPLE, TO SOOTHE THE SOULS OF THE THOUSANDS OF BULLFROGS SACRIFICED DURING THE YEAR FOR EXPERIMENTAL PURPOSES.

TEMPERATURES INSIDE THE EARTH'S SO-CALLED "FRIGID ZONES" SOMETIMES RISE TO 80 DEGREES.

IN INDIA, FAITHFUL MOHAMMEDANS PAY FIVE DOLLARS A BOTTLE FOR BATH WATER FROM THE DAILY BATH OF THEIR SPIRITUAL HEAD, AGA KHAN, BELIEVING IT TO HAVE HEALING POWERS.

THE Buddhist Bullfrog rites are in keeping with their belief that all things, animate or inanimate, possess souls. At Keio University, a granite monument has been erected to the memory of the departed frogs which have contributed their part to scientific research.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JILL WENTWORTH, heroine, attractive debutante.
ALAN JEFFREY, hero, rising young artist.
BARRY WENTWORTH, Jill's stepbrother.
JACK WENTWORTH, Jill's brother.
SYLVIA SUTTON, old friend.

Yesterday Learning from Ardash the secret of his $3000 sale, Alan breaks with Jill, leaving her heartbroken, lonely.

CHAPTER X

JILL hadn't been herself since the day the angry young man had come to her home. Mrs. Wentworth decided. But what was an angry young man with a city full of young men all ready to be agreeable?

She thought it might be a very good time to mention Milo's devotion, and discovered she was wrong.

"She's looking a wreck, for some reason," Mrs. Wentworth told Barry one day. "She'll end up by being an old maid."

"I guess she has a right to be one, if she wants to," Barry retorted.

"When—" Mrs. Wentworth ventured, realizing she was on forbidden ground, "when is Sylvia planning to announce her engagement?"

"Ask Sylvia," Barry said, knotting his tie viciously.

"I thought you said there was an understanding?" Mrs. Wentworth persisted.

"If you insist on knowing, the understanding seems to be going haywire. I suspect your big, blond stepson, Jack, is the reason. Really I don't much care—there are a dozen girls who are better company. And I know of one who makes Sylvia look like a piece of very pale cheese?"

"Who?"

"Oh, skip it. Don't worry, I'll probably bring you Sylvia Sutton on a silver platter served with all her pedigree and social prestige."

MRS. WENTWORTH felt better. Evidently, Barry was still planning to marry Sylvia. But who was this other girl? If her plans didn't carry through for Barry's brilliant marriage, it would be a terrible disappointment. Then, there was the problem of Jill. It didn't matter whether Jill married brilliantly or not, just so she married.

Jill passed her stepmother with some letters in her hand. Jill, thought Mrs. Wentworth, always manages to be at home around mail time. She thought Jill looked excited.

Jill was. One of the letters in her hand was in a clear-cut masculine writing that was new. Even before she opened it, she knew it was from Alan.

She tore open the envelope. A check fluttered from the folded page. Alan had written: "I hope you will forgive me. I realize now you meant to be kind. But it was impossible for me to accept. However, there seems no way to escape obligation. Moving was evidently the right idea. I've sold several pictures which made it possible to send a check, closing the transaction. Sincerely, Alan."

Closing the transaction! He might just as well have said: Ending everything. He had asked forgiveness for hurting her, but he had not forgiven her. Which was the greatest hurt of all.

Mechanically, she opened another letter. It was from Ellen Beckwith inviting her for a visit.

For a long while Jill sat still, holding the letters in her hand. One of them shutting the door to romance. The other opening the door to a temporary escape from life here at home—which had become in a moment a barren oasis. She would accept Ellen's invitation. There was nothing to wait for now.

Sylvia Sutton had come over to say goodbye to Jill.

Jill knew that her stepmother expected Sylvia to announce her engagement to Barry soon. But she was far from certain about it, herself.

There was none of the happy excitement about Sylvia that marked girls engaged to the men they loved. She was sure Sylvia was unhappy. Jack was not himself either. The two facts added up and made a complete conclusion.

Watching Jill assembling her wardrobe efficiently, Sylvia said: "You're simply wonderful, Jill. I could never pack a trunk—or do anything, really."

"I think I'd make a swell poor man's wife," Jill said slowly, carefully placing a sky-blue evening gown on a padded silk hanger.

Something, Sylvia thought, had happened to Jill. She isn't the same. Jill was the grandest girl she knew. She'd hate for things to go wrong for her.

They went down stairs, and found Mrs. Wentworth waiting.

Impulsively, Sylvia put her arms about Jill and kissed her warmly. Jill looked so woe-begone and lonely. As though she didn't want to go and as though she didn't want to stay.

"Won't you go to the station with us, Sylvia?" Mrs. Wentworth asked eagerly.

"Thank you, no," Sylvia replied. "I must hurry home."

She started walking toward her coupe. Got in and turned on the ignition. As the occupants of the big car waved, Sylvia's hand went up gaily. A moment later the Wentworth car was lost around a curve of the drive.

Then, very calmly, Sylvia switched off the ignition and got out.

"Anything wrong, Miss Sylvia?" queried the gardener, coming toward her.

"No, Andrew, I was just thinking I would like to see your garden. Could you show me about?"

"GLADLY, Miss Sylvia. There's not much to see at this time of year. The chrysanthemums are fine. And there are some pretty things in the conservatory. Some tropical plants I'd like to show you."

It was while they were in the conservatory that Sylvia heard the car on the drive. It was too soon for Mrs. Wentworth to be back. If she were very lucky—

"Whose car is that?" she inquired, trying to make her voice sound casual.

"Mr. Jack's,"

PANTHERS NEXT ON NOTRE DAME SUICIDE CARD

Layden Men Throwing Lots of Surprise Punches Now

Chicago, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame, who've been throwing a lot of surprise punches lately, have a scrap on their hands next Saturday.

In their own "back yard," they take on the powerful Pittsburgh Panthers, now rated by many observers as the strongest team in the land. A victory for Notre Dame would class the Irish, who started slowly and then got underway with upset wins over Navy and Minnesota in the past two weeks, as one of the best eleven in the nation.

Notre Dame defeated Minnesota Saturday 7 to 6 while Pittsburgh was romping over Carnegie Tech 25 to 14. Against the Gophers, Notre Dame showed plenty of fight and a great back in Andy Puplis, who scored all of the Irish points.

Wisconsin's Big Ten title hopes received a hard blow as the Badgers bowed to Northwestern, 14 to 6, in a game which clearly showed the Wildcats the better team. Wisconsin will be idle Saturday, with Northwestern taking on Illinois at Evanston.

Illini Score First Illinois scored first against Michigan, with a fumble on the three yard line by Ken Zimmerman turning into a touchdown by Willard Cramer. Jack Berner's kick was low, however, and the scrappy Wolverines came back to win 7-6 on Pres Trosko's touchdown pass and his successful placement. Michigan entertains Chicago Saturday, and will be favored to whip the Maroons, who won 39 to 0 by Ohio State.

The Buckeyes now lead the conference title chase with three wins and no defeats. Minnesota, twice victorious, is expected to down Iowa, which fell before Purdue 13 to 0, but Ohio State probably will retain its clear conference lead with another victory at the expense of Indiana. The Hoosiers lost to Nebraska 7 to 0.

The only conference team going outside the Big Ten for action will be Purdue, which travels east to take on Fordham's strong eleven.

Ritchie Named Head Of International Livestock Show

Chicago, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Alexander Ritchie, manager of the royal farm at Windsor, England, was named today by B. H. Heide, manager of the International Livestock Show opening Nov. 27 as the judge of steers at the exposition.

Heide said Ritchie will take over the duties of Walter Biggar, who had charge of steer judging 12 years at the show.

Heide estimated that more than 14,000 head of livestock would be entered in the eight-day exposition.

ART SHIRES HURT

Los Angeles, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Art (The Great) Shires, former first baseman of the Chicago White Sox baseball team, suffered a dislocated vertebra yesterday when his automobile struck a telephone pole.

May Die Under New U. S. Law

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

METHODIST CHURCH

A number of meetings of more than ordinary importance will be held at the Dixon Methodist church within the next few days. Beginning on Friday at 4 o'clock the midweek communion on Christian education will hold sessions in the afternoon and evening including a supper conference. Four people who are regarded as experts in their field will come to Dixon from Chicago and lead in the conference. The program is as follows: 4:00-5:30 P. M., "The Teacher and the Tools With Which He Works"; 6:15-7:30, supper conference with Dr. F. A. Lindhorst leading on the theme, "The Real Task Before the Church School"; 7:30-9:15, panel discussion on "Building the Church to Meet Today's Needs"; 9:15-9:30, devotional period with picture interpretation.

Ministers and workers in the church school from more than thirty churches will attend the conference. Workers in the local churches of Dixon are invited to share in this conference. There is no registration fee and those persons planning to attend the supper meeting are asked to make reservations through the Methodist church office.

The second meeting of importance will be held on next Sunday evening when the young people of the local church will be hosts to other young people at a tea to be held at 6:30 P. M. Following the tea the young people and their friends will hear Dr. W. E. J. Gratz, editor of the Epworth Herald and a leader of youth for many years. Dr. Gratz has spent the summer in Europe and will speak to the theme, "Youth in a Disintegrating World." This address will be open to the public and many hundreds are expected to attend. One of the young people will preside.

The third important event is the first meeting of the men on Tuesday evening, November 9. The speaker for that occasion will be Arthur Wood, principal of John Deere junior high school of Moline. Mr. Wood will have a fascinating story to tell of the Gaspé peninsula. Colored movies will be shown depicting the fascinating life of the French people in this section of Quebec. This will be a dinner meeting and will be open to men and women.

The finance committee will meet at 7 P. M. and the official board at 7:30 P. M. this evening.

BRETHREN CHURCH

There was rejoicing at the Brethren church last night as another packed house united in a spirit of worship, in the last service of the campaign. The evangelist spoke on the subject of "Life's Sunset" which was indeed a fitting climax. A little girl, Norma Ruth Strite, of the West Branch church gave a reading. Roy Glessner sang a solo, and the Krug sisters quartet sang a selection. Following the sermon on "Life's Sunset," the evangelist and his sister, Mrs. David Wade, sang "Tell Mother I'll Be There," which was an impressive ending, and a young lady responded to the invitation to accept her Savior. Rev. and Mrs. Thompson and their little daughter, Evelyn Jeannine, started for their home in Kansas this morning, where the former is pastor of the Conway Springs Brethren church. The Bible class will have a social at the home of Rev. and Mrs. D. B. Martin, 821 Palmyra avenue, Tuesday evening. All members and friends of the class are invited.

A service will be conducted at the church Wednesday night at 7:45, on the subject of "What Should We Do Following a Revival Meeting?" and a cordial invitation is extended to everyone.

The Ladies' Aid will meet at the church Thursday afternoon. There

MEET BISHOP BENTLEY TONIGHT

Members and friends of St. Luke's church who are planning to attend the annual Fall Parish Dinner tonight to meet Bishop Bentley of Alaska are urged to get in touch with Mrs. E. D. Reynolds (phone 1449) in order to find out what to bring for the co-operative dinner.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Dr. Calvin W. Laufer, of Philadelphia, Pa., who is one of the nation's outstanding authorities in the field of hymnology, will speak on "Great Hymns of the Church" at the Fellowship dinner tomorrow night at the First Presbyterian church of Dixon, Third street. Dr. Laufer is the associate editor of the New Presbyterian Hymnal. He will be assisted by the local choir which tomorrow night will sing some of the newer hymns which are included in the new Hymnal. Earl Forsberg, accompanied by Lester Kleffer, will play a violin solo.

This is the third of a series of five Fellowship dinners. An invitation is extended to all who are interested to bring food to pass at the scramble supper at 6:30. The Fellowship programs are designed to be of interest to the whole family. At 8 o'clock the group will divide into study and hobby classes, such as amateur photography as a hobby, gardening and home landscaping, principles of art appreciation, child care and training, the Bible as English literature. Members of this last class are expected to study the text, a copy of which is on reserve at the public library, to be read at the library where it may be left for the use of others.

Rev. Herbert J. Doran, pastor, states that an announcement of unusual interest and of great importance to the congregation will be made at the dinner. The meeting of the auxiliary has been postponed to Wednesday evening to permit all members to be present to hear Dr. Laufer.

Youth's Vision Called Miracle

Given up as a hopeless case when, an hour after birth, his eyes were seared with a blinding concentration of silver nitrate and pneumonia later set in, the recovery of Peter Smith, 16-year-old New York student for the priesthood, is called a miracle of Mother Cabrini of Chicago, founder of the Institute of Missionary Sisters. The circumstances of his recovery without surgery or impairment of sight have been cited in the examination of her life looking toward beatification as a saint.

APPLICATIONS FOR 1938 AUTO LICENSES OUT

Public Cooperation For Issuance Of Tags is Asked

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 1.—First shipments of applications for 1938 automobile licenses left here today for distribution throughout the state. The first of these were sent to city and county clerks, sheriffs, notaries public, police stations, newspapers, and motor clubs.

In releasing the applications Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes stressed the necessity of public co-operation in order that issuance of licenses be expedited.

Motorists wishing to retain the numbers which were issued them in 1937 must specifically request re-assignment prior to Dec. 1, 1937. After this date no numbers are kept back in favor of their present holders.

Secretary Hughes urged that applications be filled out as soon as possible, properly notarized, and sent to the Springfield office, accompanied by the fees in the form of a certified check, draft, or money order. Release of the license plates will be made early in December.

One of the features of the 1938 registration cards which will keep an accurate check on violations of the F. W. Lewis law providing penalties for drunken and reckless driving is the form at the back of the card with space for recording the dates of violations, violations charged, and signatures of judges hearing the cases.

"Every motorist must carry this card with him for identification purposes," said Secretary Hughes. "And the fact that it is also a record of his responsibility, or lack of it, as a driver is an element which should make him pause and think, and thinking is what is needed to make it safe for all of us."

MOTHER KILLS FIVE CHILDREN AND HERSELF

Norwalk, Ia., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Neighbors aided a grief-stricken father today in making funeral arrangements for a 35-year-old mother, who shot and killed five of her seven children and herself.

The mother, Mrs. G. R. McAninch, fired a charge from a small-bore gunshot into the forehead of each child. She said in a note found beside an open Bible she apparently had been reading, that she did not have enough shells to take all their lives.

The two surviving children, Ray, 15, and Gail, 11, came upon the bodies Saturday night when they returned from a Halloween celebration.

In a note addressed to them, the mother said: "You will find us dead this morning. Don't get excited." After advising them what to do, she added:

"I have stood all I can take and best to take the kids along. All that saves you boys is no more shells."

Father Was in Jail
The 42-year-old father was in the Polk county jail when the tragedy occurred. He had been seized earlier in the day for investigation in a case of breaking and entering. Yesterday he was released, however, to join his surviving sons.

Firebug Believed Cause Of $50,000 Blaze In Church

Chicago, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Fire Marshall Michael J. Corrigan said he believed a "firebug" set a fire that destroyed the Hellenic Orthodox Church, St. John the Baptist, early today, causing a loss he estimated at $50,000.

Another church a few blocks away was swept by a fire recently.

The Very Rev. John E. Vuvunas, pastor of the church, his wife and their two small daughters fled in night clothing from their living quarters in the rear of the building. The Rev. Vuvunas said he found the entire interior of the church in flames.

Dedication Held For College Hall

Jacksonville, Ill., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Dedication ceremonies were held Sunday for Ann Rutledge Hall on the Mac Murray college campus, with Judge Florence E. Allen of the sixth district, United States Court of Appeals, the principal speaker. Ann Rutledge Hall is one of four new buildings erected on the Mac Murray campus at a total of almost one million dollars. It was the gift of State Senator James E. Mac Murray, of Chicago.

SAVED FROM WRECK
Pana —(AP)—Suffering from broken ribs and internal injuries, Floyd Cook, 59, Sandoval corn husker, pulled his companion Joe Just, 60, free of the wreckage, when their automobile overturned in a ditch and caught fire.

Britain Acts to Curb New Arab Reign of Terror

Arab terrorists, like the guerilla band of snipers above, who carry on the reign of terror against English police detachments and the civil population of Palestine, are having the tables turned on them under the new British policy aimed to end the strife before the Holy Land is partitioned as proposed to solve racial problems. Below British troops have blockaded a street in Jerusalem to isolate one of the areas in which rioting and bloodshed were frequent.

Former Companion Of Lindy Killed In Plane Crash

Pekin, Ill., Nov. 1.—(AP)—An airplane crash eight miles south of here killed Gay Hutson, 37, of Pekin, a former companion of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on barnstorming trips before the latter was an air mail pilot, and severely injured Ralph Ham, 21, student flier, yesterday.

Ham, a resident of Jacksonville, was taken to Pekin hospital suffering from a brain concussion and double fracture of the lower jaw. He had gone aloft with Hutson to study flying.

Witnesses said the plane's motor stalled, sending the craft into a spiral nosedive.

Hutson was an employee of the Corn Products company of Pekin. He formerly lived at Peoria and Jacksonville.

Fourteen Deaths Due To Football Injuries So Far

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The first half of the 1937 football season took a toll of 14 lives, some 25 per cent less than in the same period last year, Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood reported to the Associated Press today.

Of that total, nine were attributed directly to the gridiron game, and five to indirect causes, said Dr. Eastwood in his report, which includes games played through Oct. 29. Dr. Eastwood, associate professor of physical education at Purdue University, keeps an annual record of vital statistics for the American Football Coaches association and the N. C. A. A.

"Only one death was reported among the college ranks, two from the sandlots and eleven from high schools," he said.

"The reports tabulated up until Oct. 29 revealed a total of 14 deaths, compared with 19 up until the same date last year."

Kankakee Boston Terrier Winner At Canine Show

Indianapolis, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Flash Again's Leading Lady, owned by Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hayhurst of Kankakee, Ill., was adjudged best in show over 41 Boston Terriers competing in the tenth annual specialty show of the Indianapolis Boston Terrier club here last night.

Berth said the cause of the fire had not been determined.

HUNTING ACCIDENT

Canton, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—George Wilson, 21, of Sumnum, may lose his right arm as a result of Fulton county's first hunting season accident today.

Wilson was wounded in the upper arm and body by a charge from a shotgun when it slipped from a slack pile at a coal mine he operates near Sumnum. He had stopped there en route to hunt squirrels.

BURNED TO DEATH

Alton.—(AP)—Henry Youthan, 47, was burned to death in a fire which destroyed his box car home here yesterday. The Alton fire department and a friend who shared his home attempted vainly to rescue him.

MARQUETTE HAS ANOTHER TOUGH FOE SATURDAY

Villanova Next After the Hilltoppers Loss To Santa Clara

Milwaukee, Nov. 1.—It will be right out of the frying pan and into the fire for Coach Paddy Driscoll's Marquette university football team.

The Hilltoppers, who have just engaged Kansas State, Michigan State and Santa Clara in consecutive engagements, will battle a powerful Villanova eleven in Philadelphia next Saturday, Nov. 6. It will be the last foreign game of the season for the Avalanche.

Villanova rates as one of the great teams of the east this fall and will be an advance favorite to defeat the Blue and Gold. Coach Clipper Smith's Wildcats have swept through Penn Military, Manhattan and Bucknell and tied Auburn, the team which they also tied in the Havana fiesta game last New Year's day.

Only four lettermen were lost from Villanova's great 1936 team and the squad of veterans has been augmented by one of the best sophomore contingents in the school's history. Smith has experienced men for every position and, in fact, boasts two veteran backfields. His best carriers are Franny Nye, quarter, Andy Stopper and Ray Stovick, halves, and Art Raimo, fullback.

Next Saturday's game will mark the first meeting between Marquette and Villanova in 26 years. The two schools played to a scoreless tie here in 1911, a year when the Hilltoppers were undefeated and also tied Notre Dame, 0-0.

Driscoll and his squad will head east next Thursday afternoon and will work out in Philadelphia on Friday.

Proclamation To Honor Pastor Who Died For Slaves

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The memory of the Rev. Eliah Parrish Lovejoy, whose opposition to slavery led to his death at Alton a hundred years ago, is to be honored in Illinois Friday under a gubernatorial proclamation.

Governor Horner, designating November 5 as Lovejoy Memorial Day, paid tribute to "the martyrdom of this unselfish humanitarian and patriot, x x x one of America's immortals."

Lovejoy, abolitionist editor, was killed by a pro-slavery mob in Alton a hundred years ago next Sunday.

HURT IN WRECK

Belvidere.—(AP)—Five Chicagoans were injured when their automobile plunged off U. S. Highway 20 two miles west of here. They are George Harding, 26, his wife, Margaret, 21, and Miss Nancy Harding, 19, Harding's sister, 6530 Kenwood Ave.; and Thomas Stephenson, 50, and his wife, Elsie, 48, 8022 Harper Ave.
